

Action Deferred on Jr. High, Planning $4,524,935 School Budget Is Explained

Civic Body Asks Most Questions Finance Chairman Conducts Hearing

Approximately 30 persons attended the public hearing on the $4,524,935.65 Kingston school district budget for 1959-60, conducted Tuesday evening at George Washington School by the board of education.

Presiding at the meeting was Robert B. O'Reilly, vice-president of the board and chairman of the finance committee.

The principal criticism was led by Eugene DeDea, chairman of the education committee of the Kingston Civic Association, with other members of the Association taking part. Except for the questions from the Civic Association, there was little discussion or information sought by those present.

Near State Figures

Chairman O'Reilly pointed out that while the board's estimates of required revenues differed considerably from those estimated in the state's survey, the total figure in the tentative budget closely approximated the state's figure.

The state estimate which was made following a survey was $4,566,288 and the board's estimate is $4,524,935.65 for the consolidated district.

O'Reilly pointed out that this was the first year of consolidation with no prior figures to guide the board as to costs except those supplied by the state's study plus the operating costs of the city and outlying districts in past years.

"Next year we will have figures to go by and make comparisons," O'Reilly stated in reply to a question in regard to certain items.

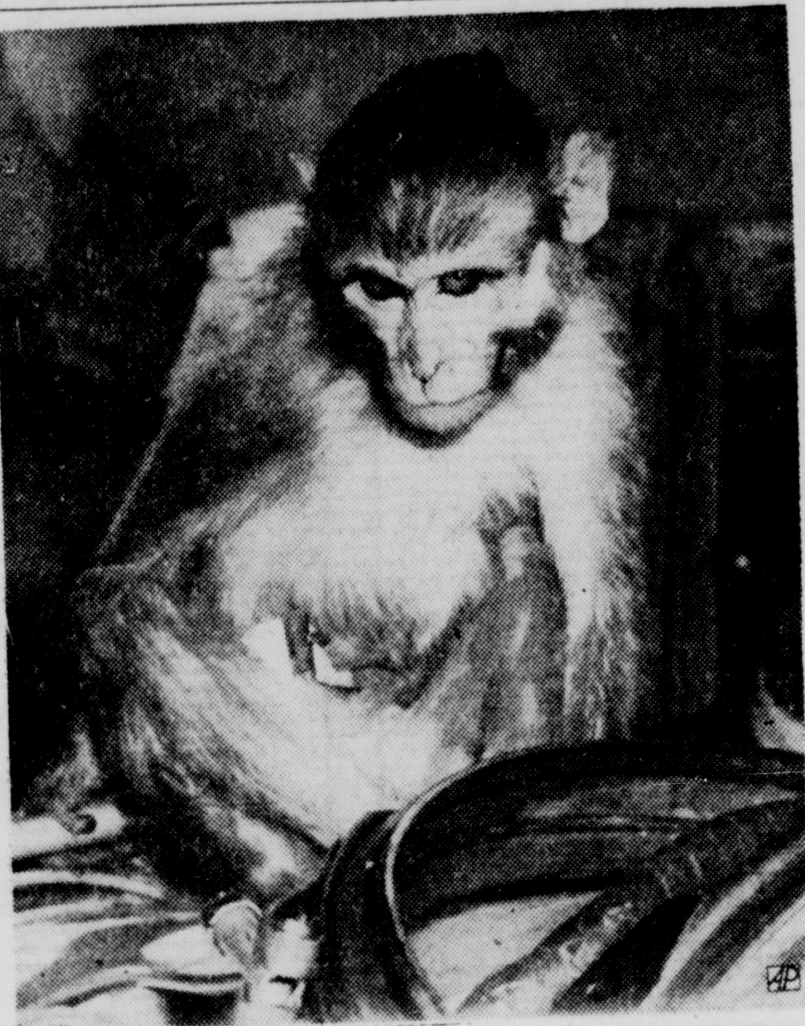

Discuss Transportation

There was considerable discussion on the transportation figure, at $180,880.85. This item, it was alleged, had been estimated by the state at $125,000 for the same service to students but this item appeared in the tentative budget at $180,000. DeDea alleged that the state's figures were either "underestimates" or the board's figures were "overestimates" in numerous cases.

O'Reilly pointed out that many of the figures in the budget were based on known facts and cited the $8,845 cost of transportation in Kingston for the last year and the estimate of $10,741 for 1959-60. He said the transportation problem had been studied by Reginald Russell and by projecting the increased number of pupils and possible higher costs the transportation cost had been fixed. Last year transportation cost in the area had been $171,002. The amount estimated in the budget was $180,000.

Farmers Will Air 'Egg Crisis' in Hudson Tonight

HUDSON, N. Y. (AP)—Hudson Valley egg farmers will meet here tonight to figure out ways of getting more eggs onto kitchen tables.

Representatives from other parts of the state are expected to pitch in with ideas on easing the "egg crisis."

Too Little Buying

The problem revolves around law of supply and demand: Too many eggs and too little buying. The Hudson Valley farmers are an independent lot. Unlike some farmers in other states, who last week called for federal action, the men in the area have indicated (Continued on Page 8, Col. 4)

Two Held for $5,700 Hyde Park Robbery

A 35-year-old man and a 37-year-old woman identified as his wife, were in custody at Poughkeepsie today, facing charges arising from a daring $5,700 armed robbery of an employee at the Hyde Park branch of the Farmers and Manufacturers National Bank of Poughkeepsie.

Authorities identified the defendants as Douglas Theodore Day, and Clara Jenkins Nelson Day, who reportedly arrived in Dutchess County late last month from Georgia. The pair was apprehended Tuesday night by state troopers, deputy sheriffs and special agents of the FBI, who figured in the manhunt after the robbery early Tuesday afternoon.

Arraigned before U. S. Commissioner John M. Garrity at Poughkeepsie on federal charges of armed robbery, the Days were remanded to the Dutchess County jail in lieu of bail of $25,000, pending the arrival of agents from the U. S. Marshall's Office in New York City.

Trained by Car

The capture of the accused pair came about after authorities received a "tip" that a red automobile with a Florida registration plate, that was seen leaving the vicinity of the Hyde Park bank, was parked near the Heartstone Motel, Route 9, Upper Red Hook.

A detail of FBI agents, deputy sheriffs and State Police BCI officers, made their way after darkness to the motel and surprised the Days. They were immediately taken into custody and authorities said most of the $5,700 stolen in the holdup was recovered.

Demands Money in Bag

Shortly after 1:30 p. m. Tuesday, Mrs. Harold Quinn, a teller, was at her station in the Hyde Park bank when a man, later identified as Day, walked into the bank and flashing a gun at Mrs. Quinn, demanded her to dump all the money she could get into a paper bag which the gunman had placed at a window.

Dutchess County Sheriff C. Fred Close said the man told Mrs. Quinn, "This is a stickup," as he pointed the gun at her. Mrs. Quinn, authorities said, put more than $5,000 in the bag and the armed man hurried from the bank. He was seen riding away in a red car with a Florida plate.

The vehicle, authorities said later, was driven by Mrs. Day.

State Trooper Fred Powers of Rhinebeck, said today that the Days had been seen in the Red Hook area in the red car since May 28.

No Rebates on Water Meters

Action Sought About Private Street Care

A move to obtain Albany action permitting municipal attention to streets or lanes lacking full legal status was supported by Common Council action last night.

A deed to a new street, Sherwood Drive in the Linderman Avenue area, was accepted and preparation of special assessments on several paving, curbing, drainage and sewer projects was authorized.

The water board through a letter to City Clerk Raymond A. McAndrew indicated no rebates are possible on earliest installed meters when the water department began its full-scale installation of meters.

Reply on Water Rebates

"The letter, signed by Howard S. Pangburn, water board president, replied to a previous inquiry as to possible rebates. It stated simply that 'The Department of Audit and Control has advised that the sums collected for meters and meter installations under the now repealed regulation may not be rebated.' It was read and filed.

Claims totaling more than $16,500 were referred to Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly. One for $1,500 was for reported damage done to property during installation of a water meter. The others were for personal injuries suffered in falls and for automobile damage.

A letter from Mayor Edwin F. Radel dealt with streets or lanes lacking full legal status and it was indicated that attention to the problem will be sought at the State Conference of Mayors in New York next week. The mayor with City Clerk McAndrew and Corporation Counsel Kelly have been authorized to attend.

An Old Problem

The problem, said the mayor, has been one in his administration, "as I am sure it has vexed other administrations. It has to do with requests for repairs to certain roads or streets, some of which are undoubtedly private, some of which are not even streets, and some of which it is not possible to definitely declare to be either private or public city streets."

A city, he said, "is prohibited by the State Constitution from making a gift. Repairs of a private street would fall within that category. It is unfortunate that unscrupulous builders or developers sometimes mislead people into believing they are buying a lot or a home upon a public street, when in fact such is not the case."

The mayor noted that he has met with individuals who had, and still have these problems. On many occasions I have discussed repair and maintenance of such streets with the corporation counsel and the aldermen. In many cases there does not appear to be any legal manner in which the city can even make the slightest repair to a private street, and even where there is a question as to whether the city owns the street, there is danger in taking a chance under the law as it exists."

Favors Law Enactment

Many times, he said, "all the property owner wants is a roadway that is passable so he can get in and out. I believe we ought to strive toward the enactment by the State Legislature of such a law. I would suggest that if a law were enacted to permit a city, solely at its (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Promote Teachers From Area, Says Alderman Perry

Alderman Samuel J. Perry (R) Fifth Ward, after praising two School No. 4 faculty members due for retirement, criticized the education board for what he considered lack of preference to local teaching personnel.

Perry said the people of the Fifth Ward were due to lose by retirement, Raymond H. Van Valkenburgh, of 329 East Union Street, School No. 4 principal, and one of its teachers, Miss Winifred M. Sullivan of 45 Walnut Street, both of whom, he said, were outstanding for long and faithful service.

Mentions Salary

"I understand," he said, "that the Board of Education is bringing in a man from Hudson to take the place of Mr. Van Valkenburgh, who has served in the school 42 years. I think we have qualified men and women here. Why do we have to go out of town?"

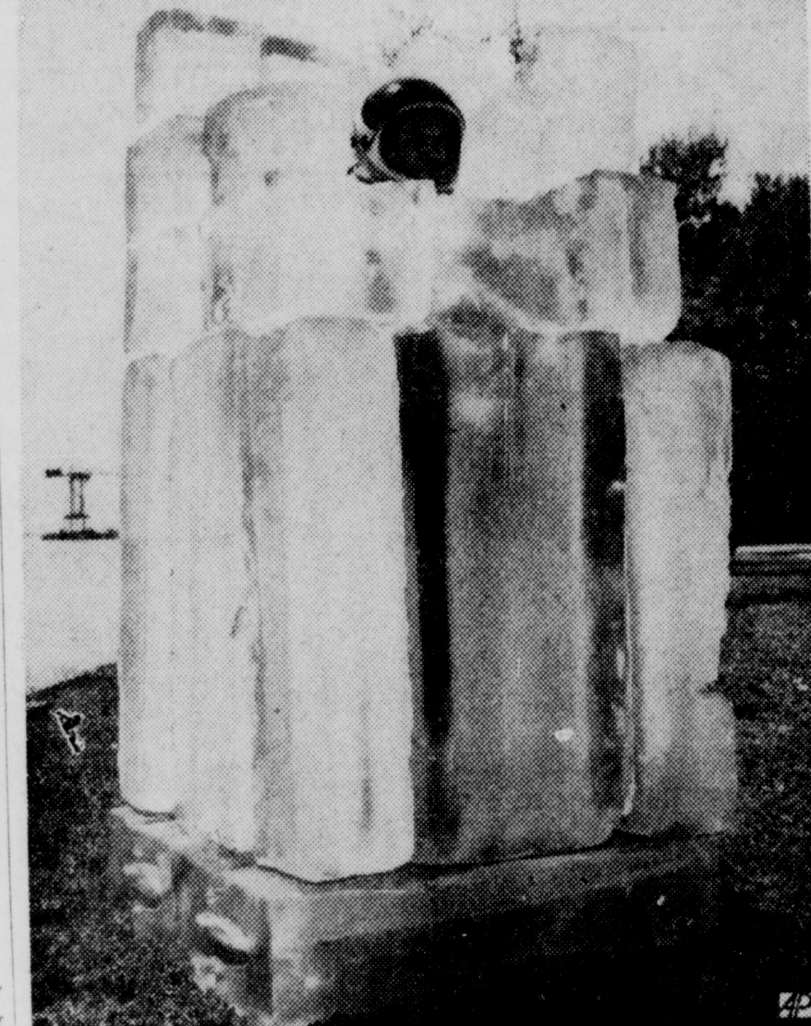

"The new man, I hear, is starting at a salary of $8,300. I'm pretty sure Mr. Van Valkenburgh wasn't getting that much, and when a higher position comes up, it seems the Board of Education goes after people from out of the city."

Says Locals Considered

Dr. Earl F. Soper, school superintendent, revealed today that Donald Sweeney, of Hudson, who has served as a junior high school principal there, was chosen by the education board's screening committee, after a screening which involved both local and out of town teachers.

Of the final four screened, he said, two were from out of the city and two were local. "Like about everything else," he explained, applications for teaching positions are necessarily on a competitive basis.

As best as could be determined (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Estimates Due in July

Action on Budgeting For Chest Will Start

The budget committee of the Kingston Area Community Chest will meet Thursday afternoon to set in motion the steps that will lead to the adoption of the goal for next October's Red Feather fund campaign.

John J. Schwenk, budget chairman, has called the meeting for 4 p. m. Thursday at the Community Chest office in the YWCA building. At that time, it is expected he will announce the appointment of sub-committees to work with the individual agencies in establishing their estimates of minimum needs for 1960.

The budget committee is comprised of local business and civic leaders who by training or experience are qualified to study the financial operation of the agencies which depend upon the combined Community Chest. Red Feather drive for a portion of their operating funds.

Call for Estimates

After reviewing the monthly financial reports and past annual statements of the member agencies, the committee members call upon each participating agency to submit an estimate of minimum needs for the coming year. These estimates will be weighed against the potential for giving in the community and recommended to the Board of Directors the figures to be used in establishing the campaign goal.

It is expected that the committee will call for agency estimates by July 1 and will be prepared (Continued on Page 8, Col. 6)

Council to Vote On Measure for Rail Taxes Owed

Mayor Edwin F. Radel said today a special meeting of the Common Council will be called in the next few days to pass a resolution authorizing Attorney William H. Fitzgerald, of Middletown and New York City, to accept an offer of the defunct O. and W. railroad, in settlement of back taxes.

Fitzgerald was retained as counsel by the City of Kingston and several other municipalities along the former O. and W. line to close transactions with the railroad receivers to bring about payment of part of the delinquent taxes owed the communities by the defunct company.

The mayor today received communication from Fitzgerald explaining that the Council must pass a resolution authorizing him to accept the offer, which includes a reduced sum involving delinquent taxes of the railroad. (Continued on Page 6, Col. 2)

Aldermen Will Meet Again 16th Early Move Asked On Dietz Location

Action on bids for affiliation of city-owned land for a junior high school site and on the hiring of a city planning firm was deferred by the Common Council last night until a June 16 recessed meeting.

Legislative drafts favoring professional city planning, it was indicated, could be prepared within the two weeks, but a skeptical letter from Mayor Edwin F. Radel, plus varied sentiment among aldermen on the school site bid, and a requested opinion from the State Board of Audit and Control, left the education board's request contingent on developments.

Education officials conferred with the aldermen during the recess for committee conferences, and reports from that indicate variance of opinion. The board seeks early action for approval of a junior high school site on the Dietz Memorial Stadium grounds.

Would Act Soon

Mayor Radel's letter on planning favored early action, and the same was suggested from the floor by Alderman Richard K. Wood (R), 12th Ward, who indicated he favored a vote at the meeting, but proposed that if necessary legislative papers were not yet prepared, that the council act "as soon as possible."

Mayor Radel noted that after study the local planning board recommended a contract with Raymond & May Associates, of Pleasantville, of the firm was at the session for questioning, but the larger question and answer period was between the aldermen and education officials.

Alderman Donald M. Hastings (D) Third Ward, in a filed statement, said he felt he would be criticized "and should be for having any part in turning over city recreation areas to the Board of Education for new construction or any other purposes." He proposed that if the board has no other area for its building program, that it purchase from the city "at the going value such parks as are requested for nothing."

Then, he said, the city would have money to replace its lost park space.

Ask State Advice

Other aldermen were not as immediately outspoken. A few indicated they were not ready for a vote on the proposal, and some indicated an opinion from the state audit board could be a factor in future decisions.

In conference with the aldermen during the recess were Robert H. Herzog, president of the education board, George W. Schneider and David Kline, board members, Andrew J. Cook, its attorney and Dr. Earl F. Soper, school superintendent.

Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, in proposing the recess, indicated the aldermen needed more time for consideration of both proposals. On the education board's proposal, he indicated an Albany opinion for determination "of what could be the city's safe course of action," was especially important.

West May Challenge Gromyko on Berlin

GENEVA (AP)—Western foreign ministers reportedly decided today to call for an early showdown with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko in secret talks over the Berlin crisis.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and ministers of Britain, France and West Germany agreed in a midday strategy meeting, officials said, that Gromyko should be told the time has come for the Soviet Union—which touched off the crisis last November—to put up new, constructive proposals for a solution.

Gromyko's reaction to this challenge, it was hoped, should shortly disclose whether the Geneva meeting has any chance of success in easing the East-West dispute on Berlin and clearing the way for a summit conference.

The Western ministers met for an hour at U. S. headquarters. They wound up their strategy session a little more than two hours before another round of secret talks with Gromyko at Herter's villa.

An American spokesman said the "situation with regard to Berlin was not appreciably advanced" by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko's statement to the Big Four conference Tuesday.

But British and French diplomats said Gromyko's speech was being studied with extreme care because it contained intimations the Kremlin may be interested in finding a way out of the Berlin deadlock.

British and French sources thought the next 48 hours of the conference—now in its fourth week—could prove to be the most critical of the parley with (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

Kingston Souvenir Books Are Late

The Kingston souvenir books will not be available this week as expected for Kingston's Homecoming Days. Unforeseen printing delays have caused the publication to be 10 days to two weeks late.

Many inquiries and orders for this 64-page souvenir book, being published by the Kingston Committee for the Hudson-Champlain Celebration, have already been received.

Starting on Thursday of this week, a mimeographed order form will be available at the office of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, by which out-of-town visitors particularly, may order the book at cost, plus a small mailing charge. The committee regrets that this is necessary.

Order blanks will also be available at the Reunion Day headquarters in the Kate Walton Field House on Saturday, June 6.

Pennsy Road Blast
Second to Hit Area
Within Six Months

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — Tragedy has struck like lightning in this area for the second time within six months. Its weapon — violent explosions. Its victims — mostly curious spectators.

Eleven men were killed and 15 injured Tuesday when a propane gas truck involved in a collision exploded on heavily traveled Route 122, about 100 miles north-west of Philadelphia.

A tractor-trailer rammed the rear of the halted gas truck, setting it afire. Less than an hour later, while firemen were trying to put out the blaze, there was a thunderous explosion. Bodies were tossed about and utility poles ripped down by flying metal and debris, and by what was described as a "ball of fire" which rolled up the highway.

It might have been the cab or the tank of the gas truck. Both were hurled several hundred feet. Ten of the victims were among 30 spectators standing as far as 300 feet away. The 11th was a fireman.

The calamity recalled a similar tragedy in Allentown, Pa., 40 miles east of here, last Dec. 14. Several persons were watching a street fire from the porch of the Mountainville Hotel. Flames ignited a gas line, causing a tremendous explosion that tore down the hotel. Seven persons were killed and 22 injured.

Walter Williams, 54, of Reading, Pa., driver of the tractor-trailer, was quoted as saying he applied his brakes but his foot slipped off. Williams suffered severe shock and was placed under sedatives.

Joseph Warton, 48, of Peckville, Pa., driver of the gas truck, was hospitalized with a possible fractured right leg and severe shock.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
THE PRIVILEGED CO-OPS

Why should the Co-Ops have a tax loophole? Why should they not be on the same tax footing as other businesses, including those with which they compete? Let's make it a two-way street and not just one-way for the Co-Ops.

MR. HUTTON

There is a gang in Washington that sit up nights trying to find ways and means to get more tax revenue from the people to run and support our over-extended Government.

There has been plenty of big talks about the possibility of increasing Federal tax revenues. But, if so, why not take a good look at the Co-Ops? These boys compete with the Free Enterprise fellows. They borrow funds from the "nursemaid" State at cheaper rates than their competitors can get. Neither do the Co-Ops assume a full share of the tax burden. They borrow from Uncle Sam and pay when convenient, if at all.

There are wide differences of opinion as to what is, or is not, a loophole. One example is outstanding: tax freedom for the Co-Ops, which are engaged in business of a thousand kinds. Is this "EQUAL JUSTICE UNDER LAW"?

Let's put the Co-Ops and their competitors in the same ball park and see which can bat out the home runs and steal second base for the benefit of the spectators who have paid to see "fair play." If on that basis, the Co-Ops win, God bless them.

King to Retire

Mahoney Selects
Sandler as Acting
Senate Secretary

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—John J. Sandler of Albany will be acting secretary of the State Senate until a successor is chosen for William S. King.

King, 65, secretary for 20 years, will retire June 17.

Majority Leader Walter J. Mahoney appointed Sandler Tuesday to serve as secretary until the Senate convenes to elect a new secretary. The Senate is not due to meet until January.

Sandler has been an administrative assistant and labor consultant on Mahoney's staff.

The secretary is the Senate's chief administrative officer. The job pays $17,340 a year.

Mahoney said King's decision to retire "came as a distinct shock."

King said he had decided to leave after completing 49 years with the Senate. He began as a page in 1910.

King lives in Delmar but also maintains a voting residence in Old Chatham, Columbia County.

Faces Murder Charge
Over $2 Robbery

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP)—A first-degree murder charge has been placed against Thomas E. Crown, 19, in a robbery that netted him $2.

He is accused of using a shotgun to beat Jacob F. Rohde, 60, Tuesday morning behind the Rohde home. Rohde was a retired policeman.

Crown was later captured 40 miles away in a barn at Towanda, Pa. Police found him hiding under bales of hay.

At his arraignment Tuesday night he waived a preliminary hearing and was ordered held for the grand jury. Authorities said he signed a statement admitting the slaying.

A neighbor of Crown's, Charles Burdick, 19, was held as a material witness in $25,000 bail. Police said he had been asked to go along on a robbery, but that he refused.

Rohde worked on the night shift in a factory in Ithaca.

The brain of thunder lizard (Brontosaurus) weighed only about a pound. The animal weighed about 35 tons.

Cowboy Admits He's On FBI Wanted List

THERMOPOLIS, Wyo. (AP)—A cowboy on an isolated cattle ranch, arrested Tuesday while he ate, has admitted his identity as one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men.

Richard Allen Hunt, 27, was sought on charges of kidnapping an Oregon policeman and wounding another last March.

"He seemed glad it was all over," Sheriff Eddie Todorovich said after he and Undersheriff David Schott surprised Hunt at a ranch 35 miles west of Thermopolis. "He said he'd be glad to get back to Oregon."

Todorovich said he and Schott were at the ranch and had recognized the fugitive from an FBI poster picture.

Rosendale Plans
Wild Dog Hunt

Wild dogs which have been doing damage in the vicinity of Maple Hill and the Fourth Binnewater will be the target for a "wild dog" hunt this weekend.

Dog Warden James Hicks of the Town of Rosendale reports.

Recently dogs have been killed in the area by roaming wild dogs. Hicks reports, and the hunt will be for the purpose of tracking down these animals. Persons residing in the Maple Hill area in the vicinity of Spindler's and in the Fourth Binnewater area back of the Roland Drolet place are advised to keep their dogs confined over the coming weekend. The hunt will be in the Maple Hill area on Saturday, June 6, and in the Fourth Binnewater area on Sunday, June 7, Hicks said. The search will be held in cooperation with the Rosendale Sportsmen's Club, Hicks said.

carry the whole defense by himself and chose the ace rather than his fourth best heart for his opening lead.

It was a wise choice. If he had led fourth best South would have gone up with dummy's jack and knocked out Sam's ace of clubs. Hearts would still be stopped and five odd would be made.

After the ace lead Sam continued with the queen. This smothered dummy's jack. South ducked but a third heart lead cleared the suit and Sam set the hand when he got in with the club ace.

State Will Drop
Suburban Plates

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The "suburban" class of registration plates will be eliminated next year, the State Motor Vehicles Bureau reports.

Owners of station wagons will receive standard plates. However, they will continue to pay premium registration fees, at least for 1960, all because of a legislative mixup.

The bureau said Tuesday that a record total of 11 million registration plates for all types of vehicles was being ordered for 1960.

The plates, to be manufactured at Auburn State Prison, will have orange letters on a black background, the reverse of the current series. Motorists were issued a tab instead of new plates for 1959. Station wagons now carry six-numeral plates with the word "Suburban" printed below the numbers.

The Senate and Assembly passed separate bills this year to cut to passenger-car levels registration fees on station wagons used only for passenger purposes. The two houses failed to pass the same bill, however.

The registration fee for station wagons is computed at the rate of 75 cents per 100 pounds. Passenger-car rates are 50 cents for each 100 pounds to 3,500 pounds and 75 cents for each 100 pounds over that level.

Legislation to cut the station wagon fees is expected in the 1960 session.

Apparently not seeing the train coming, he stepped in front of it as it was pulling into the station.

IF, AND OR BUT

There can't be any doubt that a sagging economy or a threat of war would be a decisive issue in next year's presidential election. The natural assumption, too, is that so powerful a factor would be of huge benefit to the Democratic aspirant to the White House.

A good deal more difficult to weigh, however, is how things will fall if there is no dominant issue at or before campaign time in 1960.

If business is bowling along at high level and the world scene is relatively tranquil, what things will make the biggest impact on the millions of American voters?

You will hear many argue, with some persuasion, that in such cases voters usually tend to "go by the book," to follow the pattern of voting most common to them.

Of course, fewer and fewer voters today consider themselves tied rigidly to either the Democratic or Republican party. But experts who examine their actual voting habits find that generally they incline one way or the other on a fairly consistent basis.

Should this be the single greatest governing factor, the evidence suggests a Democratic outcome. More Americans seem to have that habit.

Yet it may not be at all that simple. When issues are secondary, candidate personality looms large. President Eisenhower's whopping 1956 victory amid three straight Democratic congressional elections is a stunning demonstration of what can happen.

An Eisenhower image doesn't come over the horizon every year. But the balance between opposing personalities can still be decisive in a time without strong issues.

The man who most looks and sounds like a president, who suggests the firm, sure hand, who seems a fair-minded umpire among our swirling conflicts, this is the one standing a great chance of being chosen.

Some feeling exists also that voters nowadays like to set one party against another as a hedge, giving one control of Congress and the other the White House. It's a theory as yet not really tested, since Mr. Eisenhower's immense personal popularity confuses judgment.

If 1960 should indeed be issueless, the presidential decision evidently will emerge from a mixture, now undetermined, of voters' general leanings, their feelings about the candidate choices before them, and their possible wish to hedge by ranging one major party against the other. At this moment, we can have no real clue as to next year's crucial political cake mix.

The feeling grows among Democratic leaders that Stevenson is hopeful of being nominated again. Hopeful too, no doubt, that the present similarity between his record and William Jennings Bryan's will end there.

FBI Chief Hoover points to the country's increase in bank robberies and does not recommend it is a suitable way to combat inflation.

An unfortunate fact about economics is that things may cost more but not be worth more.

DIRTY STORY

A while back a U. S. company jokingly advertised plans for building a true earth satellite, a sort of rocketing mole that would orbit the earth—underground. A molar orbit, you might say.

Not a few engineers and would-be subcontractors were taken in by the story. But now for them the (earth) worm has turned.

News that the Russians have developed a rocket to dig tunnels and that it actually works has brought another mild shock to the Pentagon. Seems that Army engineers have long dreamed of such a rocket, one that could burn its way through the ground without creating an earth-disposal problem.

How authentic the Russians' claim is, we don't know. But one thing is sure: It's a

'These Days'

THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL

A major arm of Communist activity in the world has been and is the Third International. This is a union of all Communist Parties in every country on Earth, under the leadership and direction of Soviet Russia. During World War II, Soviet Russia announced the abolition of the Comintern (Third International). This was done to please President Roosevelt. The Third International, however, could not be abolished because Communist Parties require a mechanism for mutual activity and for communications.

Therefore, the Cominform was organized to take its place. This was said to be an international Communist information service, but actually, it was the same old Third International, an arm of the Kremlin extending into every country on Earth. From this line and their orders, over the world, Communist Parties all over the world are being directed.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has issued a valuable and impressive study on this subject. This study is particularly important for those who fail to realize how vast an effective international organization has been and what direct control it has had over the American Communist Party. This study establishes the history of the close relations between the Third International and the American Communist Party.

This relationship has never been broken. As recently as the 21st Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union, a representative of the American Communist Party, James E. Jackson, delivered an address at the Congress in Moscow, and greetings were sent signed by Eugene Dennis, national secretary, and Robert Thompson, executive secretary.

The Third International remains an underground movement which works in about 70 countries. Among these is, of course, Cuba as well as the United States. It is short-sighted to disregard the Communist factor in the current Cuban revolution and to fail to recognize that every Communist is guided by the Third International. At the 21st Congress of the Communist Party U. S. S. R. the United States was represented by Morris Childs and James E. Jackson.

I once attended a mass jamboree that Elsa Maxwell gave for some reason or other. Among the guests was an American radio newscaster who had spent many years in Moscow. Quite seriously, without a smile, he arose to say that in all the years he had been in Russia, he never once heard of this radio newscaster had been doing in Moscow because the Communist Party since its inception, by whatever name, was always an international organization.

The Third International was organized in 1919 by Lenin to spread the gospel. The First International was organized by Karl Marx in 1864; it was then called the International Workingmen's Association. Its first headquarters were in London; it died in 1876 upon being moved to New York. The Second International was a group of non-Bolshevik and anti-Bolshevik Social Democrats, was organized in 1889 and fell apart during World War I. (The term Bolshevism, as used here, is non-technical as that element came into existence in 1903.)

As an interesting footnote, I mention that Mussolini, when he was a Socialist editor of "Avanti," was a creature of the Second International. Leon Trotsky attempted to organize an anti-Stalinist Fourth International and was killed for his pains. These various Internationals have existed a long time and have exercised a great influence over European thought and politics. To ignore the Third International is to ignore reality. Its affiliated party in the United States is the Communist Party U. S. A., an organization with a continuous existence since about 1919.

The international head of the Third International now is Otto V. Kuusinen, a Finn, who has been one of the most active members of the Communist Party in the world and who has been one of the principal managers of the Third International. In the development of national Communist Parties, the Third International has been a guiding force, sending its agents to every part of the world, dictating the line to be followed in each country, selecting leaders by recognizing their authority and always serving Soviet Russia, supervising personnel to the extent that it ordered the American Communist Party to depose Benjamin Gitlow and Jay Lovestone and to accept William Z. Foster and Earl Browder instead. Recently it ordered Earl Browder deposed from leadership.

The Third International functions today. (Copyright, 1959, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Lice Are The Real Dirty

Guys of the Insect World

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

There is a strong possibility that if we succeed in blowing ourselves off the face of the globe, and probably destroying most other animal life with us, insects will inherit what remains.

Be that as it may, there are many insects which sometimes seem to already have begun to take us over. Among them is the body louse—an insect pest which is unpleasant and mortifying to acquire, a particular source of trouble in times of war, famine or overcrowding.

Several kinds of lice may infest human beings. Most of them prefer the human scalp, except for the so-called "crab louse" which likes the groin region.

Some people seem to have a special attraction for lice. Lice will actually desert the bodies of some for more attractive locations.

Lice lay eggs, or nits, on the body. These hatch in about seven days. The nits are not destroyed by most treatments, so that they must be taken care of in some other way—usually by treatment after hatching.

Personal cleanliness is the most important part of prevention. There is no doubt that bathing in warm water and the use of soap at least once a week, together with frequent changing of clean clothing, reduce the chances of acquiring lice.

Crowding acts to spread louse infestation. In rapidly growing and crowded communities these vermin are frequently found even among clean families.

Treatment was often difficult in the past because the substances which poisoned lice did not always work and their applications took a great deal of time and work on the part of the patient. Now, partly as a result of experience learned during the war, there are several quite satisfactory methods of eliminating lice from the human body.

These newer methods include the use of DDT powder, a substance known as benzyl benzoate, and for body lice a kind of bomb pyrethrum. This can be sprayed over the entire body in a few seconds, providing a suitable place for use is available.

In order to make any of these treatments successful, however, it is important to follow directions closely and, in the case of head lice, to guard against injuries to the eyes.

The female louse lays from 50 to 150 eggs a day, and the average louse will live from 30 to 40 days.

Besides the discomfort and embarrassment of having lice, there is some danger involved. Several diseases, including typhus and plague, are carried by lice. The more people have lice the more risk there is of spreading such diseases.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the great dangers in having a president of one party and congressional majorities of the opposition is now becoming most evident.

This danger is that the Congress will vote for bills which they know to be unsound, in the hope that the president will save their skins by use of his veto power.

A congressman casting a vote for some bill he does not fully approve of may be forced to do so because of commitments to constituents who have a particular interest in such legislation. And what every congressman has to do is establish a voting record that will win him re-election.

After such a vote, the congressman can go back to his state and say, in effect, "Well, I voted for what you wanted on that bill, but the president vetoed it."

This is admittedly a kind of cowardly way to hide under the president's coat-tails—in contrast to riding into office on them. But it's politics and it's done.

TYPICAL EXAMPLE is for a congressman to vote for some federal aid project in his district even when he knows it's something right out of the pork barrel.

There are a number of measures now before Congress in which this kind of support may be noted. They relate to farm and labor legislation, housing, slum clearance aid to depressed areas, airport and other public works projects.

Practically all of these measures would call for increased federal spending. If passed, they would be popular with voters in the receiving states.

Most congressmen know there is general demand for government economy. But they rely on the presidential veto to do the economizing.

Heavy congressional votes of this kind have been registered in the past and will be recorded in the future.

It will be recalled that in the Republican 80th Congress, a post-war tax cut bill was passed in 1947. President Truman had guts enough to veto it as unjustified.

The veto stuck. In the Democratic 85th Congress, a farm bill was rushed through early in 1958 to freeze all prior supports at not less than 1957 levels. President Eisenhower vetoed it. Congress then passed a bill which made a little more sense. But the votes for the bad bill made the congressmen who cast them look good to farm groups that wanted it.

IN THESE SITUATIONS you have the negative side of the argument on why both Republican and Democratic presidents and presidential candidates always make a big pitch for the election of a congress controlled by their respective parties.

The positive side of the argument is that a president can't put through his own program unless he has a sympathetic congress working with him. President Eisenhower has been able to get only about half of his program approved by Democratic congresses. President Truman never fared much better with the GOP.

On the big foreign policy legislation like the Marshall plan, and on President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine, opposition congresses did rally around to give them what they wanted.

It is on this basis that a case is sometimes presented in favor of having a president of one party and a congress controlled by his opposition. They do serve to check and balance each other. Extremely liberal and extremely reactionary proposals tend to get side-tracked and middle-of-the-road programs result.

In the field of farm legislation, for instance, opposition congresses killed off both President Truman's Brannan farm plan and President Eisenhower's Benson farm policies.

The criticism is that the resulting compromises haven't been very effective, either. And nobody knows whether the Brannan or Benson plans would have worked if given a full chance.

Conformism Charged

GREENCASTLE, Ind. (AP)—Churches in their drive for uniting have "become victims to the culture of conformism," the Rev. Dr. Robert Tobias, of Christian Theological Seminary, Indianapolis, told a pastor's meeting here. "Denominations merge and unite because they have become addicted to the idea that centralization is the modern way," he said.

A fascinating drifter named Jack McCloskey told me of being in London the night Tennyson died and of buying a copy of Crossing the Bar with a black border from a peddler for a penny on the Strand. He had seen wireless from Hawaii, a miracle then, and in New York had been fired by Roy Howard because, on some occasion, he did not yell "Flash!" loudly enough. McCloskey, merely a loud enough, did not yell "Flash!" loudly enough.

McCloskey went down to Colorado for the Ludlow strike, but the story of his participation in the battle with the National Guard on the side of the miners is entirely hearsay with me. So I am not sure because they have been added to the idea that centralization is the modern way," he said.

Lloyd's Influence Is Seen As Needlessly Torpedoed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

LONDON—Suddenly and with no apparent reason except domestic politics, the influence at the Geneva conference hitherto wielded so skillfully by Selwyn Lloyd, the British Foreign Secretary, has been torpedoed.

Seldom has there been such a vivid illustration of how, with the best intentions, a political maneuver, designed to ease the way for the promotion of a man to a higher post, can turn out to be faux pas.

For, whatever may have been the motive—and it probably had to do with preparing the way to remove some of the handicaps the Conservatives face in their general election to be held soon—the net result was to throw a monkey wrench into the wheels of international diplomacy at a critical moment.

To announce that one of the Big Four ministers is on the way out is to say, in effect, that there is something wrong with his performance as a Foreign Secretary. The London "Times," which published the first article, had a "scoop" on Monday morning, but the information wasn't presented in a simple news article with even anonymous attribution of the source. The story was made up of speculative comments such as are usually found on the editorial page. It said in part:

"We may safely accept that Mr. Macmillan has lately taken Mr. Selwyn Lloyd's arm in paternal grip, led him to one of the personal advice a leader offers to a favorite lieutenant, or call it the first unmistakable hint about the Prime Minister's intentions if he is summoned to form another ministry after the general election—it makes no difference. What matters is that Mr. Macmillan has let Selwyn Lloyd know that at the Foreign Office, in the troubled times, enough is enough."

The article went on to say that Mr. Lloyd has done well but that continuance in the Foreign Office might sap his health. It then added:

"But the transposition of Mr. Selwyn Lloyd to another departmental office is clearly still several months ahead."

What Was the Purpose? Then, it might be asked, what was the purpose of the obviously inspired story, particularly at this time when the Foreign Secretary of Great Britain is approaching the most critical week in the Foreign Ministers' conference at Geneva? Is it possible that those who were so absorbed in domestic politics chose to ignore the obvious effects to international affairs did they just forget about them as politicians sometimes do when they move unswervingly toward their goal in a politics-above-all-else tactic?

The feeling here is that some timid elements in the Conservative party, looking ahead to a close election, have considered that Mr. Lloyd's previous association with the Eden regime—when the tragic Suez episode occurred—could lose votes for the incumbent party and that hence a change would be salutary.

But even conceding the desirability of presenting a strong front in the elections, why was the story given such prominence, and did "The Times" perhaps overlay a piece of political gossip that never was intended to affect Mr. Lloyd's present position at Geneva?

Russian Assumptions

Unfortunately, the Soviets will have no difficulty putting an interpretation on the whole affair that will suit their purposes. They will take it for granted that Mr. Lloyd was too "tough" to suit Mr. Macmillan and too harmonious with the viewpoints of the French and American envoys, and that this development represents a retreat by the British and a split in the unity hitherto presented. The Soviets will say Mr. Macmillan is at odds with the other Western leaders.

Denials have been issued already to counter such misconceptions, but a Foreign Minister who is busy for any reason, on the way out doesn't have the influence that he otherwise exercises when he has the full confidence of his superiors. Mr. Lloyd has done a superb job in Geneva. It's too bad somebody bungled and cut the ground from under him when he most needed unequivocal support. But the ways of politicians are devious, and they haven't yet learned how to keep from mousing up foreign affairs in the middle of delicate negotiations with a dangerous adversary. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

In Ben Hecht's "Child of the Century" and in "America's Literary Revolt" by Michael Yatron, I find nostalgia for the Chicago Day Book which snarled like a nasty little alley cur on West Madison Street and died leaving absolutely no decent achievement but leaving nevertheless an artificial lore.

Negley Cochran, of Toledo, was the boss and I believe the bankroll. He accomplished good in Ohio, but his Day Book, a digest-size tabloid, was no credit to anyone. Like many a fellow who has an unbridled hatred of "the rich" and the Day Book, which gave us freedom to abuse and sneer, was a hangout for many who did not work for Cochran. I worked for the United Press and the leading character of the Day Book's staff was my special friend, a pugacious rebel, Jack Malloy, who later became one of Mr. Hearst's aggressive city editors. We each had a girl and on Saturday nights, young as we were, would drink gin and sloop things in a place called the German Village on State Street, South, and the Athenian, on Clark Street, North. These were very nice, moral girls and Malloy was really courting. She was a phone operator. Her father, a Clark St. saloonkeeper, had a gambling room upstairs and a bouncer named Bill Shanks who later came famous as Bill Brennan, who went 13 rounds with Dempsey in the Garden. Bill turned to bootlegging after the first war and was murdered at 168th and Broadway in New York.

Hecht thinks the Day Book was good, but I think now that it was awful. And the skinny Scotsman Dan McGregor, who seems noble in Hecht's memory, was just a drunken, shiftless, tramp newspaperman. We had many such, as well as tramp telegraphers who came and went or bugs wherever they went. They could sit down and go to work wherever the necessity caught them and a job offered. There was no real labor union and some operators, for personal reasons, possibly marital troubles, used pseudonyms, which was called flagging. But a telegrapher's "hand" is distinctive like a human voice and a man under a flag tipped off his identity with his first few phrases on a wire a thousand miles away.

McCloskey, merely a loud enough, did not yell "Flash!" loudly enough.

McCloskey went down to Colorado for the Ludlow strike, but the story of his participation in the battle with the National Guard on the side of the miners is entirely hearsay with me. So I am not sure because they have been added to the idea that centralization is the modern way," he said.

McCloskey told me of being in London the night Tennyson died and of buying a copy of Crossing the Bar with a black border from a peddler for a penny on the Strand. He had seen wireless from Hawaii, a miracle then, and in New York had been fired by Roy Howard because, on some occasion, he did not yell "Flash!" loudly enough. McCloskey, merely a loud enough, did not yell "Flash!" loudly enough.

him, but he may be alive still. He was no writer and he usually carried a slab of booze in his hip pocket. It was a superstition in the reporter's room at the City Hall that he had the consumption, but we all had that of many pale, skinny people.

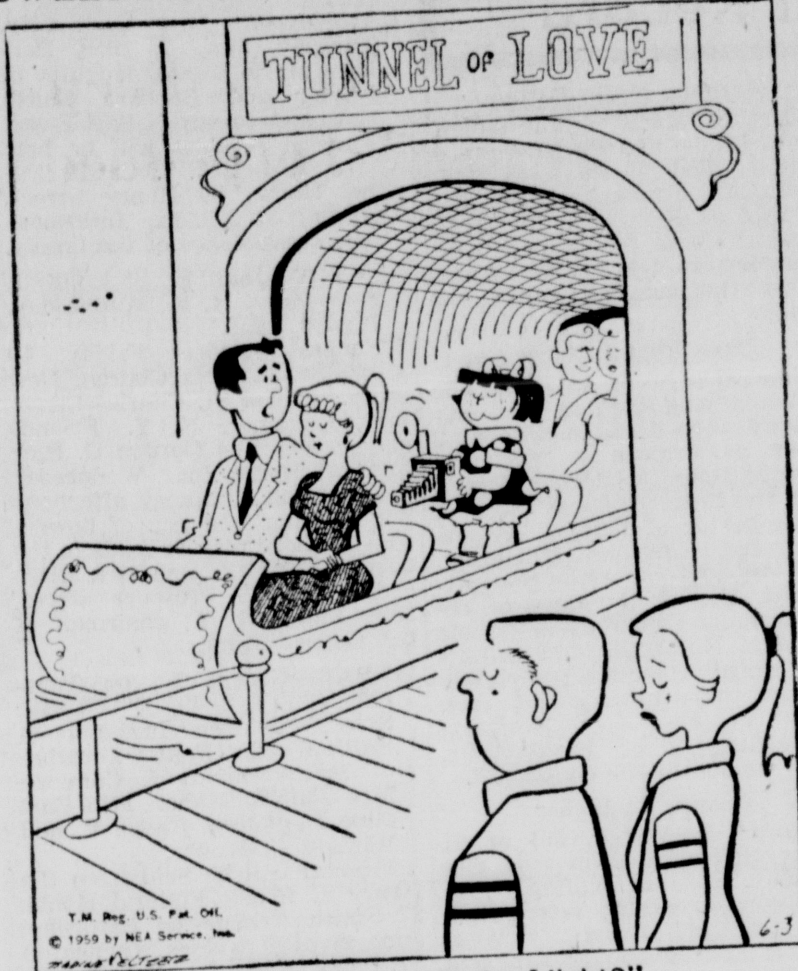

I puzzled that I have no recollection of Carl Sandburg there at the Day Book and I doubt that he did anything good there because nobody did. Mr. Yatron's book, dealing with Sandburg, Vachel Lindsay and Edgar Lee Masters, puts the finger on Sandburg with a fine line in the jocular, a line when he observes that a farmer but only pulled some carrots in the family back yard at Galesburg, and hated the cities although professing love for the people who compose all cities. I just put these contradictions down to an inability to sort out his thoughts and emotions and how to a line. Sandburg could not realize that many "war workers," as Roosevelt called them, although undoubtedly people were as greedy as any millionaire, as any honest mind must see, retaining the constant strikes in WWII and Roosevelt's final necessity to steal some of these war profits back per withholding tax, without letting the people touch it.

If Sandburg rode a boxcar on a pilgrimage to Mark Twain's Hannibal he only used the conventional transportation of thousands in the midwestern rural country. In our home areas we knew most of the crews.

It is no credit to intelligent members of Sandburg's cult that he viewed the Civil War strictly as a war over slavery. Poor education need not leave a man obdurately ignorant and if Sandburg could call Stalin's Russia "a great champion of mankind" (Yatron, p. 138), he invites the hostility of Americans of normal ideals and morals.

"Cabbage Patch Magic," musical presentation for children by

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

With the super highways, markets, million dollar school houses, and new housing projects going up before your very eyes, let's look back to our Kingston in 1820. (In 1828 the D and H Canal really started the boom around here.) Marius Schoonmaker writes in part of the 1820's. "Taking the Strand road, what is now called Union Avenue, and going down to Rondout, then called by some The Strand, by some Kingston Landing. The first building after leaving St. James Street, was a two story unfinished double frame house, with cellar under the whole. . . . It was called 'Ketchum's Folly.'"

It seems there were only a couple of buildings from St. James Street to the West Shore Road, and a few houses down below the Broadway hill. He mentions then. . . . "There was not any road along the shore down the stream, but the road passed to the east over a narrow dug way about midway up the mountain to Ponckhockie. At the place where the Rondout Road, through Ponckhockie struck the Kingston road to Columbus Point, stood a one story old stone house, the old stone home of Moses Yoemans, then in 1820 owned and occupied by Wilhelmus Hasbrouck."

This was all just 139 years ago, and he further writes: "Proceeding towards Columbus Point (we call it Kingston Point) descending the steep clay hill, there stood a little red cottage where 'Toontje' and his wife made their own penny molasses sticks. They stretched it across the thumb-latch of their door, and pulled it from there. It was very popular, with the then younger generation."

He further writes: "There was no road at that time down the stream from Eddyville on the shore to Kingston was directly across the mountain, striking the Greenkill road at the southerly end of the Black farm, between two and three miles from what was then the village."

Schoonmaker tells that they had a welfare department in

Matter of FACT

Had the plan proposed by Alexander Hamilton been followed, the president of the United States would have been elected for life. Senators, who would be wealthy, influential men, would also have been elected for a life term. The House of Representatives would have consisted of elected representatives of the common people. Hamilton's plan would have patterned the United States government after that of Great Britain.

very popular, with the then younger generation.

He further writes: "There was no road at that time down the stream from Eddyville on the shore to Kingston was directly across the mountain, striking the Greenkill road at the southerly end of the Black farm, between two and three miles from what was then the village."

Schoonmaker tells that they had a welfare department in 1770 in the Colonial Legislature. The trustees of the town, it seems had to provide for the poor of the town. But, under their authority as overseers, they prohibited the bringing of poor persons into the town, and in case any were brought in they at once ejected them therefrom, unless a responsible freeholder of the town became security to indemnify the town against their becoming a town charge. They went even further, in January of 1786, not as overseers of the poor, but as guardians of the corporate property, they adopted an addition to the town ordinances, prohibiting strangers from becoming residents of the town until they gave security to the trustees that they would not cut any timber upon the commons without leave, or would pay to the trustees 10 English pounds for a license or permit.

The boundary of the incorporated Village of Kingston was described thus on April 6, 1850. "Beginning at the southern extremity of the bridge across the Esopus Creek, and running thence to the east corner of the division line between Jacobus S. Bruyn and Gerrit Van Keuren, deceased; then in a straight line to the intersection of the Twaalfskill and Greenkill roads; thence in a straight line to a swing gate across the Vauxhall Road; thence to the southeast corner of the house lot of Catharine and Magdalen Ten Broeck on the highway, and thence in a direct course to the beginning."

Somoza Marshals Forces; Invaders Reported on Way

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — President Luis Somoza marshaled his forces today to meet three boatloads of invaders reported en route from Cuba to join in Latin America's latest vestpocket revolt.

Somoza ordered his ambassador in Washington, Guillermo Sevilla-Sacasa, to ask the Organization of American States for an investigation of the threat to his regime, one of Latin America's last three dictatorships.

Says Group on Run
The Foreign Ministry said Tuesday night it had learned that three schoolboys carrying revolutionaries and arms set out from Cuba for Nicaragua to support 75 or more rebels who landed by plane from Costa Rica over the weekend. The government claimed it had that group on the run.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, asked in Havana about the report of invasion from his country, said he was too busy to answer "baseless charges."

Castro Denies Help
Once a fiery advocate of aid to rebels against dictatorship, Castro has been denying he is aiding such movements since a Cuban-based invasion of Panama backfired in April while the Cuban leader was trying to make friends in the United States.

Managua is calm, but troops on guard everywhere lend a tense atmosphere to the capital.

Arms Are Displayed
The government claims the situation is under control. Unconfirmed rumors circulated however of clashes in the provinces with the rebels who flew in from Costa Rica Sunday and Monday.

The government announced destruction of one of the rebel planes and capture of arms and ammunition but denied the reports of clashes. There has been no announcement of casualties.

The government put on display 15 rifles, a machinegun and about 4,000 rounds of ammunition it said had been captured near the destroyed plane. The guns carried Costa Rican markings.

Nicaraguan exiles in San Jose, Costa Rica, claimed four rebel groups had seized impregnable mountain positions between Santo Tomas, east of Lake Nicaragua, and Mu Muy, about 85 air miles northeast of the capital.

The government estimated the initial striking force at about 75; a rebel radio broadcast said it totaled 421.

Nicaraguan exile sources in San Jose reported all the invasion leaders had landed successfully by air and were directing operations.

Border Is Watched
The Costa Rican National Assembly Tuesday night unanimously approved a motion of support and sympathy for the revolutionary movement in Nicaragua.

There were unofficial reports in Tegucigalpa that another neighbor, Honduras, has closed its border with Nicaragua.

Nicaraguan officials said they were watching the border of a third neighbor, El Salvador, and predicted that the next trouble spot might be the Golfo Fonseca area near the northern border. Apparently they expected a landing there by the force reported coming from Cuba.

Managua resembles an armed camp with soldiers everywhere. Strong patrols guard the city power plant.

Many stores are closed in a protest strike against the Somoza regime, but Economic Minister Luis Cantarero says the country's economic situation has not been affected.

Final Meeting Is Set for Scouters In Barclay Heights

The combined meeting of Scouters District Scouters and Scouters Roundtable for June will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. as a picnic on the grounds of Trinity House in Barclay Heights. District chairman, Harry Hoffman, urges all unit leaders and district scouters to attend this final meeting of the year. The commissioners staff, under the direction of District Commissioner Peter N. Pocalyko will serve as host for the evening of fun and good fellowship. Units will bring "eats" for their own group.

A brief business meeting will be held during the course of the evening and the agenda includes the forthcoming scouting events: council camporee and summer camp at Camp Timonut and the future district events. Newly elected District Commissioner, Kenneth Magyar and his staff will be formally installed as district officers for the coming year.

Council to Vote

The Common Council met in regular session Tuesday night.

Mayor Radel told reporters today that the railroad was delinquent in general taxes amounting to $12,153.04, and school taxes amounting to $2,677 for a period up to the time the railroad went into receivership in 1957.

Fitzgerald said in his communication to the mayor that the receivers had offered to pay the city $6,879 in settlement of general taxes owed by the railroad, and $1,470 in settlement of school taxes owed the city.

Fitzgerald said the resolution authorizing him to accept the payments must be in his hands before 10 a. m. on June 12, and Mayor Radel said it will be necessary to call a special meeting of the council prior to that date.

Troy Driver Due To Appear on Car Wiper Charge

A Troy man, who suffered a bad cut on his nose in a collision with a station wagon late Tuesday morning on Route 9W three miles north of Kingston, is scheduled to appear this afternoon before a town of Ulster magistrate on a charge of operating a vehicle without windshield wipers.

He is Clarence Clum, 51, who was issued a summons by Trooper David Wachtel of the Kingston state police after smashing into the rear of a 1957 station wagon operated by Herman Arlensky, 44, of 37 Aubrey Street, during a rainstorm. Arlensky, an employee of the U. S. Postal Department, was delivering mail at the time.

Clum told Trooper Wachtel that he would see his own physician for treatment. The cut was suffered when Clum's nose struck the steering wheel.

The collision occurred almost directly in front of the Kingston state police barracks.

Wachtel reported that Arlensky was proceeding slowly in a southerly direction delivering mail when Clum, also traveling south, smashed into the rear of the mail wagon. Both cars were heavily damaged.

Clum is scheduled to appear today before Justice of the Peace Arthur Reilly in the Town of Ulster Grange Hall.

New Priest Will Offer Mass Sunday At St. Peter's

REV. JOSEPH F. REYNOLDS

A newly-ordained priest, whose mother is a former member of St. Peter's Church, and whose brother is assistant pastor, will celebrate his second Solemn Mass there Sunday at 10:30 a. m.

He is the Rev. Joseph F. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Reynolds of Tuckahoe. Mrs. Reynolds is the former Gertrude Stenz, who was born in Kingston and attended school here.

All friends are invited to attend the Mass, also to visit St. Peter's School Hall, Adams Street, Sunday from 4 to 5:30 p. m. when Father Reynolds will give his first blessing.

The brother of the priest, ordained Saturday, May 30, at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York by His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman, is the Rev. William V. Reynolds. He is assistant pastor at St. Peter's.

There are two other brothers, John and Owen Reynolds of Tuckahoe, and three sisters, one a nun, Sister Mary Paul of the Sisters of St. Francis, who is on the faculty of St. Clare's Academy, Hastings, N. Y. The other two sisters are Mrs. William E. Rooney and Miss Betty Reynolds, both of Tuckahoe.

Father Reynolds is a graduate of Immaculate Conception School, Tuckahoe, Cathedral College and St. Joseph's Seminary of Yonkers.

Promote Teachers

today the salary of the new principal will be about $100 more than that of the former principal, based on new scaling. The teaching careers of both Mr. Van Valkenburgh and Miss Sullivan have reached nearly a half century each. Miss Sullivan, who served her full career at No. 4, has taught 49½ years, and Mr. Van Valkenburgh, who served 49 years, has been a principal for 48 of them. Before coming to No. 4, he had served at schools in East Kingston and Irvington-on-Hudson.

Will Honor Both

A testimonial dinner is to be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. for Mr. Van Valkenburgh in the Tropical Inn, Port Even, and Miss Sullivan will also be honored on that night.

During World War 2, Mr. Van Valkenburgh has served as principals of both schools 4 and 5.

Alderman Perry said he and the people of the ward and city, wish them years of health and happiness in retirement.

Geneva Shows

ferred to as a statement made by Republicans that the anti-Semitism issue already has been injected into the controversy.

Eisenhower replied he wasn't aware that such an issue had been brought up. Then remarked it would be tragic if such a question should be seriously raised.

Making it clear that he continues to stand pat in support of Strauss, Eisenhower said he has no doubt that Strauss could work effectively with Congress if confirmed by the Senate.

STEEL—Eisenhower labeled as completely untrue an assertion by John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, that the President has sided with management and against the workers in the steel wage talks.

Eisenhower said he has never interfered in such labor-management negotiations, although he has urged repeatedly that both sides in the steel dispute guard against any real inflationary spiral.

Notes Serious Problem
The steel situation is a very serious problem, he said, and cautioned against letting anyone's political ambitions enter into the picture. It is a problem, Eisenhower added, that concerns all Americans.

LABOR—Eisenhower said he certainly hopes that Congress won't adjourn without passing labor legislation. He made that statement when a reporter remarked that both Lewis and Teamsters President James R. Hoffa have come out against enactment of any new legislation.

The President spoke highly of a "Bill of rights" provision for rank-and-file union members originally written into a measure passed by the Senate. He said he was sorry to see that provision watered down before the bill went to the House.

Appeals for Calm
Eisenhower appealed for calm consideration of labor legislation. He called it un-American to believe that such consideration must be marked by implacable bitterness and by any intemperate warfare.

MISSILES — As to squabbling over missiles, Eisenhower said Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy is now conducting an exhaustive study which should be ready in about 10 days. The main dispute is between the Air Force's championing of its Bomarc missile and the Army's plugging for its Nike-Hercules product.

The decision on which, if either, should be given priority adds up to a very complex problem, Eisenhower said. Pending completion of the McElroy study, the President added, he is standing pat for the defense system recommendations which he sent to Congress early this year.

Body of Premature Child Found in Creek

The body of a four or five month premature infant was discovered floating in the Rondout Creek off Ravine Street dock at about 9:45 a. m. today, according to Police Sergeant Julius Glasman.

A resident, whose name was not available, telephoned police headquarters and reported the finding of the fetus, which was turned over to Coroner Francis J. McCards for examination.

Police Sergeant F. Hanley said police investigation was deferred temporarily pending a report from Coroner McCards. He said the body was that of a premature male child.

10 Killed in Ambush

MANILA (AP) — A band of armed men Tuesday ambushed and killed 10 bus passengers traveling on a secluded road outside of Bongabon town, in central Mindanao province. The ambush, apparently stemmed from trouble on a local estate.

Hard Rain Helps Firemen to Save High Woods Inn

A driving rain aided firemen in saving LeGourmet Inn, well-known High Woods restaurant, from a fire which destroyed one wing of the building Tuesday night.

First Driver Granville "Scott" Myers, who inspected the damage, late last night with Chief Cornelius Mower of Centerville Fire Company, said the fire apparently started in the kitchen, destroyed the entire wing of the building and an upstairs bedroom.

Bohr and Mrs. Marius Fruiter, proprietors, were in another part of the house when the fire started, and escaped unharmed, firemen reported.

Mrs. Fruiter said the fire started in the kitchen wing of the house. No estimate of the damage was immediately available.

The three-dining room hostelry is situated on the High Woods Road.

The first alarm was sounded at approximately 10:30 p. m. by trucks of Centerville Fire Company responded. Initial alarm was sent to Saugerties Fire Department by mistake and they directed the call to Centerville.

Contractor Tells About Free Work For Raging Czar

NEW YORK (AP)—A partner in a construction firm that did more than a million dollars worth of work at Monticello Raceway testified Tuesday that he didn't charge Harness Racing Commissioner George P. Monaghan for repairs to his home.

Jack Perlman, of Perlman & Wortmann Inc., Manhattan, told the State Investigation Commission he had been a personal friend of Monaghan for 15 years and helped the commissioner pick out his $15,000 home in the Bronx in 1957.

Near $2,000 Price
He said he estimated the cost of repairs at about $1,000 and was told to go ahead.

Late testimony indicated the repairs amounted to almost $2,000. "There was talk of paying but they Mr. and Mrs. Monaghan gave the impression they could not pay at that time," Perlman said.

He said Mrs. Monaghan gave him a $1,000 negotiable government bond and $200 to cover the repairs, but he treated it as "a piece of newspaper," and never cashed it.

The commission read into the record earlier testimony at a private hearing in which Mrs. Monaghan said she had $20,000 in securities at the time the repairs were made and Monaghan testified he had $4,000 in the bank.

Mrs. Monaghan testified at the private hearing that she did not think Perlman cared whether he got paid.

Probes Ethics Code

The commission's investigation is aimed at determining whether Monaghan or his aides violated the state code of ethics for public officials. Gov. Rockefeller has asked Monaghan to resign his $20,000-a-year post as commissioner, but he has refused.

Rocky Names Group to Set Police Officer Training

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller appointed an eight-member council today to set statewide minimum standards for training police officers.

It will be run by two former FBI agents.

One of them, Chautauque County's Sheriff Charles C. McCloskey Jr., will be chairman of the council.

The other, Orrell A. York of Liverpool, will serve as executive director. He will be paid $15,000 a year.

Members of the council itself will serve without pay.

The council was established by a law enacted by the 1959 Legislature at Rockefeller's request — as part of his anti-crime program.

It is supposed to draw up statewide standards for training policemen. Rockefeller will have the power to order them carried out.

The council, working with the governor, will have authority to approve local training programs and certify candidates for appointment to local police forces.

The council will start work July 1. The certification provisions will go into effect a year later.

McCloskey was appointed to the council for a two-year term. So were Raymond B. Ninesling, chief of police of Kings Point; Stephen P. Kennedy, New York police commissioner; and Mayor Peter Barry of Rochester.

Appointed for one-year terms were J. Henry Mock, Rockland County sheriff; Walter F. Waring, police chief of Lynbrook; Francis S. McGarvey, superintendent of State Police; and Harvey G. Foster, special agent in charge of the FBI office in New York City.

Third Avenue Man Held for Jury on Car Theft Charge

Donald Thomas Murray, 16, of 296 Third Avenue, who was arrested last month with a 36-year-old man in connection with the theft of a $3,000 automobile, appeared today before City Judge Aaron E. Klein and waived preliminary hearing on a first degree grand larceny charge.

The case was referred to the grand jury and Murray was remanded to the Ulster County Jail.

A co-defendant, Charles A. Linwood Trainum, of Kingston, previously waived his right to a preliminary hearing and is in the county jail awaiting grand jury action. The youth and Trainum are accused of stealing a 1959 sedan owned by Anthony Albano, of 10 Van Deusen Street, and later the vehicle was involved in an accident at Milford, Pa.

Trainum was injured and for several days he was under treatment at St. Francis' Hospital at Port Jervis.

Today, Murray appeared in court with Attorney Charles Saccamano, and Assistant District Attorney Gold represented the People.

Defective Leonard Ellsworth and Charles McCullough conducted the local investigation of the case and returned the defendants here for booking and arraignment.

own discretion, and without further obligation itself, to make such roads, etc., merely passable that much could be done to alleviate a most unfortunate situation that exists in some parts of our city.

"Accordingly," he wrote, "I respectfully suggest the adoption of a resolution embracing the foregoing. If adopted, I shall do my best to help in getting the assistance of the Conference of Mayors and other interested groups for this legislation.

The local measure proposes action by the state legislature for the relief sought. A letter from the Parent-Teacher Association at School No. 7, Crown Street, proposing better safety measures for protection of children, was referred to the traffic control committee. It proposed effective signs to emphasize a 10-mile-an-hour speed limit, and suggested consideration of a traffic light at Crown and John Streets. The area needs better protection because of reported dangerous conditions affecting school children, it said.

Claims Filed A claim of $10,000 was filed by Louise Schwitz, of 451 Washington Avenue, for injuries suffered in a fall near 400 Washington Avenue Howard C. St. John is the attorney.

Anna Rynders, of Shokan filed one for $5,000 for injuries suffered in a fall on ice Feb. 23 on Mary's Avenue. She is represented by Timmerman and Carlson, of Shokan.

Elsie and Albert Lehman, of 222 O'Neil Street, filed the one for $1,500 because of alleged damage in the installation of a water meter Feb. 9. Abram F. Molyneux is the attorney. It is claimed that a valve was opened permitting water to fill a steam heating system, and this resulted in damage to the house and personal property. Beatrice Katzoff, of 27 Spring Street, filed bills totaling $41.99, as a claim for repairs to her automobile resulting from a front wheel striking an open manhole which had been dislodged by a car ahead at Broadway and O'Reilly Street May 4.

The deed for Sherwood Drive, forwarded from Sherwood Davis through A. Foster Winfield of the Board of Public Works, is for land on which to build the proposed street. It was noted that the petition for paving, curbing and sewers was filed by Hazel M. DePaola and Sherwood Davis, known as the M & S Realty Co.

Projects listed for special assessment were: Lipton Street and Amsterdam Avenue, paving, sanitary sewer and storm drain; Emerick Street, curbing; Lounsbury Place and VanGaasbeck Street, sanitary sewers; Sharon

Lane and Westbrook Place, sanitary sewer, storm drain and paving.

A request by Radio Station WKNY for use of an area at the Ring Top Hill water tower to build a unit to facilitate its New York Times newscasts, was referred to the laws and rules committee and corporation counsel.

Mayor Radel in reporting on progress made in repair of a storm drain in the South Wall Street area, as authorized by the council in April, said a drain pipe and head wall through its entire length has been installed in a new location and little work is left to be done in reinstalling curbing on South Wall Street.

Charles J. Cole, public works superintendent, and the Board of Public Works expect to have a resume of expenses available so that a budget note may be drawn for your next session," he wrote.

To Attend Conferences

Acting Police Chief Robert F. Murphy was authorized to attend the convention of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police in Rochester July 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Dr. Herbert Derman, city laboratory director, was authorized to attend the Northeastern Region College of American Pathologists at Cooperstown June 19 and 20, and Morris Nussbaum, of the laboratory was authorized to attend a conference on Applied Research in Water Sewage and Industrial Water Treatment in Riverdale June 5.

Alderman Lawrence Woerner (D) Fourth Ward, complained of high weeds along the railroad tracks at Delaware and Hasbrouck Avenues, and he requested the city clerk to inform railroad officials of conditions. A man recently fell and was injured in the area, he said.

Girl Scout Troop 71 of St. Mary's Parish attended the session, and was welcomed by Council President Kaye.

West May . . .

a Berlin deal and a summit meeting depending on the outcome.

Tuesday's conference session ran for more than three hours, resulting in postponement until this afternoon of a private meeting of the ministers originally scheduled for Tuesday night.

British and French experts cited four points in Gromyko's speech as possibly significant:

1. The Soviet Union, Gromyko asserted, is not asking the United States, Britain and France to grant diplomatic recognition to East Germany's Communist government, something the Western Allies adamantly refuse to do.

2. The Soviet Union does not question the Western powers' legal right to have troops in West Berlin although it considers the occupation of the city is outdated. Gromyko insisted some new arrangement must be made for West Berlin.

3. Although he again called for demilitarization of West Berlin under international guarantees, Gromyko said his government would agree to Western troops remaining in Berlin providing their number is limited and Soviet troops also are admitted.

4. Gromyko urged the Western three to join the U.S.S.R. in trying to "bring our positions closer together."

Western officials said if Gromyko is really hinting at a willingness to compromise, he will have to go a lot farther before a basis of agreement is in sight.

The three Western ministers already have told Gromyko their policy is unchangeable on three points: (1) they will not bargain away their war-won right to have troops in Berlin; (2) they will not withdraw their troops; and (3) they intend to keep open their supply routes between West Berlin and West Germany.

Governor Names Group to Study Power in State

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Rockefeller has set up a committee to study the future demand for electricity in the state and the resources available to produce it.

He made the announcement at a dinner Tuesday night after inspecting construction of the giant Niagara power project on the banks of the Niagara River, one of the world's largest concentrations of hydroelectric power.

"An adequate supply of power," he said, "is one of the key factors for the economic growth of our state."

He said the seven-member committee will pay special attention to the possible production of electricity by nuclear powerhouses.

The governor spoke at a dinner of the Niagara County GOP Committee.

At a brief press conference, he said he has not yet decided whether he will permit his name to be entered in the presidential primary in New Hampshire next March.

"I have no present intention of running," he said. "What happens in the future I don't like to prejudge."

A group of Republicans have said they will enter his name in the primary. The governor, however, can take himself out of it by formally declining within 10 days after his name has been entered.

May Recall Lawmakers Rockefeller also indicated that a special legislative session was under consideration for the naming of an Assembly speaker to succeed the late Oswald D. Heck.

Rockefeller named John Burton, former power authority chairman to head the special committee on power. The others on the committee are Reale J. Machold of Syracuse, president of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp.; Dr. James C. Bonbright, professor of public utilities economics at Columbia University; Dr. Finla G. Crawford, vice chancellor of Syracuse University and a member of the power authority; Charles Eble of New York City, president of Consolidated Edison; Robert E. Ginna, president of the Rochester Gas & Electric Co.; and Harry Van Arsde, president of Local 3, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and chairman of the New York City AFL-CIO.

Farmers Will Air

they want to solve the problem themselves, without government financing.

Meanwhile, a state promotion effort gave signs of loosening the economic squeeze.

The wholesale price of large whites in New York City rose from 2 cents a dozen on May 14 to 30 cents less than three weeks later.

However, the Agriculture Department was reluctant to claim credit for the price increases. "It's still too early to tell," one official commented.

Many Losing Money The department said many farmers still are barely coming out even, and many others are losing money.

The Agriculture and Commerce Departments, and members of the industry are directing the egg-promotion drive.

$4,524,935 School

$50,000 item for textbooks. It was pointed out that in the present year over $36,000 had been expended up until January by the Kingston schools alone and the item had been increased to $50,000 for next year.

O'Reilly pointed out that although a certain figure was placed in the budget, it did not necessarily mean that amount would be spent unless the expenditure was required to meet needs.

An increase in nurses' salaries was questioned by DeDea. He said the cost was now $32,000. It was pointed out the increase in that item to $53,900 was to provide for four or five additional school nurses.

Another item which brought objection from the Civic Association members was a $89,500 "improvement to grounds" figure. This is for improvements to the grounds at M.J.M. School site. DeDea said this was only part of what would be spent during the next three years in developing this project.

Would Buy Legion

An item of $48,000 for "new administration building and equipment" was also discussed at length.

It was pointed out the board had an opportunity to buy a building in the vicinity of the high school which would be convenient for persons having business at the school, payment of taxes, etc.

An inquiry was made whether one of the existing school buildings which it is proposed to abandon under the new building project could not be used as an administration building.

Chairman O'Reilly replied none was suitable as to location and stated the board had in mind a building near the high school which could be acquired.

DeDea expressed an opinion that although the administration office might be crowded, the situation could be "put up with" for the present.

It was then disclosed that the building now available might not long be available and the board desired to acquire it now. The building was later identified as the American Legion Building on West O'Reilly Street adjoining the present school premises.

An alleged increase of approximately $20,000 in the budget item for the superintendent's office was referred to.

Summary of Budget

Included in this item, O'Reilly said, was the item of salary for the assistant superintendent who would be in charge of elementary schools. This salary is $12,000.

A summary of the 1959-60 budget as proposed is:

General Control $ 95,082.10
Instructional Services .. 2,538,820.00
Operation of Plant .. 227,853.10
Maintenance of Plant .. 128,200.00
Auxiliary Agencies 354,390.85
Fixed Charges 443,013.10
Debt Service 449,272.50
Capital Outlay 198,200.00
Contingent Fund 10,000.00

It is estimated the State Aid money will be $1,506,568.67. Federal allotment for vocational education is estimated at $8,000. Tuition from districts under contract: 7-12, $30,000. Parthia Cops Richest Derby

EPSOM, England (AP) — Sir Humphrey de Trafford's Parthia, a 10-1 shot, today won the 180th and richest running of the Epsom Derby.

G. A. Oldham's Fidalgo was second. There was a photo for third between Baron Guy de Rothschild's Shantung and Aly Khan's St. Crespin III, with Shantung getting the decision.

Two American-owned entries, Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Dan Cupid and Josephine Bay Paul's Arvak failed to get in the money. An Irish hospital's sweepstakes is based on the outcome of the race.

Parthia won the mile and a half race over a hard-baked turf course by a half-length. Fidalgo was another half-length ahead of Shantung. The running time was 2:36, compared with Mahmoud's record of 2:33.8.

Parthia and Fidalgo both started at 10-1 in the betting. Shantung was the 11-2 favorite and St. Crespin also was 10-1.

The victory was worth $101,018 to owner Sir Humphrey. Second prize was $11,950 and third $5,975. Parthia was ridden by jockey Harry Carr.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip were among the estimated 250,000 spectators who watched the race on a sunny day.

Action on Budget

to recommend a goal figure by late August. Last year's goal for 10 agencies was $128,651, of which the Red Feather drive raised $124,278, or nearly 97 per cent.

Participating agencies this year are: Association for the Help of Retarded Children, Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, USO, Volunteers of America, YMCA and YWCA. Other qualified agencies which desire to join the united campaign may apply prior to July 1 to the Community Chest's board of directors.

Former Alderman-at-large Schwenk, who is employed in the long lines department of American Telephone and Telegraph, was named budget chairman for 1959-60 by the Chest's board of directors in April. He succeeds Attorney N. Jansen Fowler, who held the post for two years.

Two New Members

New members elected to the budget committee in May were Joseph A. Fassbender, assistant treasurer of the Ulster County Savings Institution; and Howard A. DeWit, assistant trust officer and assistant cashier of the State of New York National Bank.

Re-elected to the committee were: Attorney Fowler; William Darling, assistant vice-president of the National Ulster County Bank; Herman Eaton, CLU, president of the insurance agency which bears his name; George V. D. Hutton, president-treasurer of the Hutton Company; J. Douglas Masterson, IBM; Amos R. Newcombe, president of A. R. Newcombe Corporation and Prescott Newell, IEM.

Also, Robert B. O'Reilly, public accountant; Charles S. Ronder, attorney and CPA; Richard Roth, IBM and William R. Stall, cashier of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

Arthur W. Patterson, CPA, resident manager of the accounting firm of Franke, Hannon & Withey, declined re-election to the budget committee because of his election as president of the board of the YMCA, one of the Chest member agencies whose budget is subject to review by the committee.

Agents Seize Mobster

HOLMDEL, N. J. (AP)—Mobster Carmine Galente, sought for a year as one of the top figures in a multi-million-dollar narcotics ring, was seized by federal agents on the Garden State Parkway Tuesday night.

The agents had trailed Galente's car for eight hours before trapping him on the rainswept superhighway.

Galente apparently had been hiding out in a beach house on Pelican's Island, a community near Toms River about 30 miles south of here.

Two men riding with him were also nabbed. They are Anthony Macaluso, 44, of New York City, and Angelo Presenczano, 50, of Brooklyn. They were charged with harboring a criminal.

All three were taken to Newark for arraignment before a U. S. commissioner.

No Animal Found

Patrolman Louis Sapp Jr. went animal hunting Tuesday afternoon, after a resident of Murphy Street notified headquarters there was a huge animal with a large tail in a tree on his property. When the patrolman arrived, the animal had disappeared. He made a search of the neighborhood but found no trace of the animal which caused some concern among residents. Sapp reported later the description of the animal appeared to be a bob cat.

Employer Groups Try to Weaken Labor: Meany

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany said today employer organizations are trying to weaken and perhaps abolish labor unions through restrictive legislation.

In testimony prepared for a House Labor subcommittee, Meany contended that "grave and irreparable harm to the United States trade union movement" would result from Senate changes in the original bill introduced by Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

"We support legislation that will get at the crooks," he said. "We oppose legislation that will do harm to the trade union movement."

Without naming them, he said employer organizations are trying to convince Congress that the Senate-passed bill is "too weak," even with the amendments his organization opposes.

He added: "These employer organizations want this Congress to adopt restrictive, anti-union legislation. They want to make the unions weaker. They want, if possible, to abolish them."

Mr. and Mrs. Allen W. Bowlin, of Bowlin, Fla., are certain they know their children from A to Z. They named them that way.

Noticing that the double names of their first two children, Audie Bryant and Curtie Drue, were initiated chronologically, the couple decided to continue through the alphabet. Wife--Now, now, dad. You were young once yourself, you know.

Mr. Tome--Yes, I do know, but you didn't keep me waiting that long. After all, the only thing she has to decide is whether she loves him or not.

Wife--Well, she's had to wait a while to see if she can do any better.

An imposing parade celebrated Memorial Day Saturday morning. The contingent from Stewart Field, Lloyd Post color guard, Legion firing squad, Legionnaires, Legion Auxiliary, veterans in cars, town officials, floats, Little League units, high school band, Beacon Chanler Band, hose company units, also those of Clintondale, made up the longest line of march. The floats represented the Highland Grange, CD of A, D of A, high school, junior chamber of commerce, Clintondale 4-H boys; boys from the State Training School.

At the soldier's monument in the cemetery the address was given by the Rev. Justus Fennel Jr., who is a former member of the Marines. From the cemetery the marchers went over Tillson Avenue to 9W with a stop at the 156th Regiment monument, on to the village square to stop at the World War memorial and to the post office on Church Street to World War memorial.

In the village square the address was given by Captain Huddela, United States Army Reserve. The benediction was given by the Rev. L. Wayne Dunlap of the Methodist Church.

Ancient sculptures and written accounts suggest hawking was a popular sport in Egypt, Greece, Persia and Rome.

CHEVY BESTS

(COUNT 'EM)

Independent experts and official figures prove Chevrolet's ahead of its field in seven big ways

BEST BRAKES . . . In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR*, Chevy out-stopped both the other leading low-priced cars—and why not: Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings for up to 66% longer life.
BEST TRADE-IN . . . Check the figures in any official N.A.D.A.† Guide Book. You'll find that Chevy used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two." BEST STYLE

Popular Science magazine sums it up: "The fact is, in its price class the Chevy establishes a new high in daring styling . . ." It's the only low-priced car that's unmistakably modern in every line. BEST ECONOMY . . . No doubt about this: two Chevrolet Sixes won their class in the famous Mobilgas Economy Run, got the best mileage of any full-size car. BEST ROOM . . . Official dimensions reported to A.M.A.‡ make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars. BEST ENGINE . . . Every motor magazine has given Chevy's standard and Corvette V8's unstinted praise. As Sports Cars Illustrated puts it: "Indeed, this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price." BEST RIDE . . . You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. But Motor Trend magazine expresses it this way: "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class."

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in 1959 than any other car!

Communications Need Improving, Lemay Tells Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. Lemay said today there is a vital need for "new and radical thinking" to improve the Air Force's communications and warning system in this era of ballistic missiles.

"We are making progress . . . but we have not by any means reached the point where we can say that our communications are adequate," he said. "It would be more accurate to state that our communications are continually lagging behind the needs of our rapidly expanding operational requirements."

Lemay, vice chief of the Air Force, gave his views in an address prepared for the Armed Forces Communications and Electronic Assn.

Among the new communications devices needed, Lemay said, are:

1. A reliable worldwide voice communications system.
2. Faster radio teletype machines—"our teletypes must operate at rates of pages per minute rather than words per minute."
3. Improved coding devices for voice, telegraphic and picture transmissions.

Sees Tension Lasting

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charles H. Malik of Lebanon, president of the U.N. General Assembly, expects neither the present Big Four foreign ministers conference nor a summit meeting to alleviate world tensions.

"The Western powers and Russia are confronting each other with a certain degree of rigidity," he told newsmen Tuesday.

He added, "So long as communism is aimed at undermining other areas, it will remain very difficult to have far reaching agreements."

TYPICAL SESSION—Mrs. Verna Tichnor, elementary librarian for the Onteora Central School, is shown offering guidance to an OCS pupil in a typical library session at the school.

A recent survey conducted by Mrs. Tichnor indicated reading habits and inclinations of elementary pupils is excellent. (Onteora School photo).

Onteora Board Rejects Move To Create New Position Of Junior High School Principal

Onteora Central Board of Education by a 4-3 vote has rejected a recommendation of the district superintendent and school administrator to create the new post of junior high school principal.

The close vote followed a heated debate on the proposal at this week's meeting of the Board. The recommendations of Superintendent of Schools Reginald R. Bennett and John H. Moehle, supervising principal and clerk of the board, would have installed Watson I. Goodrich Jr., in the position.

In the roll call vote, Trustees John Aalto, Mrs. Edna Bishop and Edward West voted against the recommendation. Philip Gordon, president of the board, Harry Allen, John Haggerty and Mrs. Marie Klein voted in favor. Albert Fox abstained from voting, although during the discussion he said he questioned increasing the supervising personnel at the school at the present time.

Since a majority vote of the board (5 votes) is required to transact business, the motion was defeated.

Universal Debate

Nearly every member of the board and Moehle took part in the debate. A letter from Superintendent Bennett protesting the delay by the board in setting up the post was read into the record.

Moehle dwelled strongly on Goodrich's qualifications, pointing out that, in effect, Goodrich had served a two-year "internship" preparing for the post; had taken further study to receive permanent certification. After giving Goodrich unqualified endorsement, Moehle said the mounting school population and re-arrangement of the kindergarten annex was creating a situation which would require action in the very near future. He also said it was the first time in his 11 years at Onteora that a recommendation for appointment by either Bennett or himself had been turned down by the board.

St. Gregory's Plans Celebration to Honor Rev. Herald C. Swezy

The parishioners of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church of Woodstock will honor their vicar, the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, with a picnic supper on the lawn of the church on Monday, June 15, from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The Rev. Swezy is scheduled to leave St. Gregory's and, after a vacation in Colorado, will resume full time duties as rector of the Church of the Ascension in West Park.

St. Gregory's has grown to the extent that the services of a full time priest have become advisable. Father Swezy was given the choice by Bishop Donegan of coming to Woodstock or remaining at West Park. Much to the deep regret of his Woodstock parishioners, Father Swezy deemed it his duty to remain at West Park, where he has been the rector for the past ten years. His successor in Woodstock has not yet been announced.

All members of St. Gregory's are cordially invited to attend the supper and to bring the children and young family members. There will be no charge, but Mrs. Fennell Franckling, president of the Ladies Guild and chairman in charge, will welcome donations of food suitable to the outdoor repast. As to needs, please call Mrs. Franckling.

Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, Son of Philosopher, To Open Gallery Season

Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, son of the famous philosopher of the same name, will be the first speaker of a series of Gallery Evenings to be presented by the Woodstock Artist Association this summer.

He will appear this Saturday evening, June 6, at 8:30 p. m. Dr. Munsterberg, who is an authority on Oriental art and a contributing editor of "Contemporary Japanese Painting," his talk will be illustrated with lantern slides.

It is to be noted that Saturday night will take place on Saturday night. As a rule, Gallery evenings are held on Fridays, but this will be an exception. Dr. Munsterberg is on the faculty of the State Teachers College at New Paltz.

Manuel Bromberg Is Chairman Artist Association Program

Manuel Bromberg has been named chairman of the Woodstock Artist Association, according to the list of officers and chairmen announced for the 1959 summer season.

Gabriel Laderman has been named vice-chairman in charge of extension. Anne Helioff will serve as secretary and Mark Friedman will be the treasurer. The following will be chairman of various committees and Association activities:

Pupils' Reading Habits Praised By OCS Survey

"Johnny really does read," says Mrs. Verna Tichnor, of Hurley, elementary librarian for the Onteora Central Schools.

"From September to May 15 of this year a total of 22,474 books and magazines were circulated in the elementary school libraries at Boiceville and West Hurley," commented Mrs. Tichnor, who added, "Johnny surely does read, in fact, he reads more than anyone else where books are concerned."

In a recent survey of reading habits of elementary children at the Boiceville and West Hurley schools it was found that the average child in these grades checked out 23 books per year.

The most popular titles and types are Landmark books, biographies, mysteries, Colby books, pioneer stories, Dr. Seuss, Horse Stories and Curious George stories.

Typical Day's Work

In the West Hurley Elementary School of about 200 students, a typical day's circulation consists of 10 fairy tales, 31 science, 3 poetry and 15 history books, 12 biographies, 105 fiction, for a total of 176 for the day. At the Boiceville Elementary School of about 750 pupils, a typical day will find students taking out 23 fairy tales, 49 science books, 4 poetry and 11 history books, 23 biographies, 125 fiction and 20 magazines for a daily total of 256.

In addition to reading library books, Mrs. Tichnor reports that from a spot check of 79 5th graders, 69 purchased books for themselves; 62 buy at least 3 new books a year; 40 of them subscribe to or buy magazines. She further stated the children surveyed, take advantage of the Woodstock, Pine Hill and Phoenicia Public Libraries.

In comparison, with figures on adult reading, in a recent survey by Scholastic Magazine, 33 West 42nd Street, New York City, it was found that teenagers are currently "reading a book," either than a school book, and that teenagers outread the adult population nearly four to one.

Reformed Service Is Under Direction C. E. Society Sunday

The Christian Endeavor Society will have charge of the 11 a. m. worship service Sunday, June 7, at the Woodstock Reformed Church. A nursery is provided for the care of small children during the service.

Guild Will Meet

The executive committee of the Guild for Christian Service will meet today at the home of Mrs. Fred Mower. The regular meeting of the Guild will be held Wednesday, June 10, at 2 p. m. At this meeting the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne C. Olson will report on the meeting of the General Synod which they will attend.

soon in Buck Hill Falls in Pennsylvania. All women interested in the church are cordially invited to attend.

Couple Clubs Picnic

The next Couples Club meeting will be a picnic to be held June 13 (please note change of date) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Nickel, Woodstock Park, at 7:30 p. m. This will be a joint meeting with the Fair Street Reformed Church Couples Club (Joanne Parn) of Kingston. Pack your picnic basket with utensils and a main dish. For reservations, call Mrs. Charles Hoffman.

Nursery volunteers are asked to call Mrs. D. Camman regarding vacations. Mrs. Camman would like to get the summer school schedule set up as soon as possible.

To date only $80 has been received for the Marjorie Watson Fund which will be used for the purchase and installation of an outdoor bulletin board for our church. The goal is $500. All contributions should be made payable to "The Marjorie Watson Fund," and given to Earl Snyder, church treasurer.

Man's Greed Theme

For Rev. Sands Sunday

The first Epistle of John 3:16—"Hereby know we love, because He laid down His life for us," is the basis for the sermon which the Rev. G. Oliver Sands plans to preach in Christ Lutheran Church, Woodstock, on the first Sunday in June, the third after Pentecost, at 11 a. m.

The Augsburg theme for Sunday is "Denounce Greed" and is the story of King Ahab's desire for his neighbor Naboth's vineyard as told in I Kings 21:1-22:40. The younger members of the Sunday School who also meet at 9:45 a. m. are making preparations for their Children's Day program on June 14 at their regular hour.

Meeting Notices

The United Lutheran Church Women meet in the church parlors Thursday at 2 p. m. for their monthly meeting. At 7 p. m. the Youth choir rehearses, followed by Senior choir rehearsal at 7:45 p. m.

The Sunday School's annual picnic will be held Saturday, June 6, at Asbury Park near Saugerties. The first of the summer food sales will be held Saturday, June 20.

Plans for a rummage sale on Saturday, Aug. 29, have been announced by the Young Women's Guild.

Demonstration Unit Plans Final Luncheon

The Woodstock Home Demonstration Unit will hold the closing luncheon of the year at the Holiday Country Inn, Tuesday, June 9, at 1 p. m. Deadline for reservations is Friday, June 5.

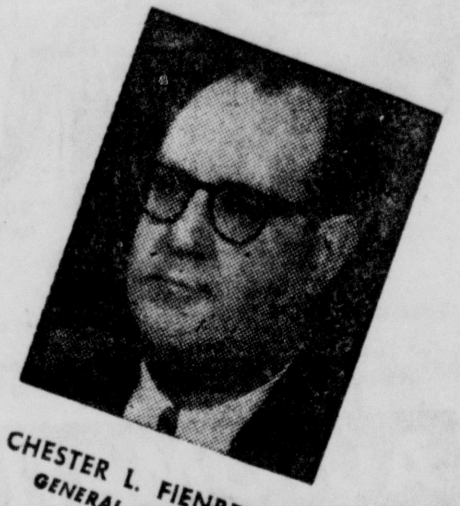

Bruce Edward, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hulter, was baptized by the Rev. Herald C. Swezy, vicar of St. Gregory's Episcopal Church on Sunday, May 31, following the noon service. The baby's sponsors were Cynthia McGirr and Arthur W. Trice.

$32,000 Is Favored For Batavia Survey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee is recommending $32,000 for a survey of flood protection along Tonawanda Creek near Batavia, N. Y.

The project has been halted because its total cost will be more than $400,000. Special legislation is needed for projects above that amount.

The $32,000 recommended Tuesday was requested by Rep. Harold C. Ostertag (R-N.Y.). It will be used by the Army Engineers during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The upcoming Senate fight over President Eisenhower's choice of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce will dwarf any fight of its kind in years. It may last weeks.

Strauss, former banker and adviser to the Rockefellers, is in for a monumental raking over.

Ike Remains Firm

The President let it be known Tuesday he not only wouldn't pull back his nomination of Strauss as head of the Commerce Department and member of his Cabinet but wouldn't withdraw it even if Strauss requested it.

Many but not all of the Democratic senators are against Strauss. He piled up enemies among them when he was chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. So far as is known all Republicans except one—Sen. William Langer of North Dakota—are for him.

Strauss' performance while he headed the AEC—from 1953 until his term was up in 1958—is at the root of his trouble. But his attitude toward Congress—or what Democrats dislike about his attitude—helped dig a grave the Democrats are trying to bury him in.

Blames Secrecy

Here are some of the things they said about him: he was too secretive and domineering; he took a god-like credit for development of the H-bomb; there was a "pattern of deviousness and deceit" in his testimony before the Senate Commerce Committee; he lied to the committee; he deliberately withheld information from Congress; he suppressed vital facts about detecting atomic blasts; he made oblique answers to charges against him.

Strauss said some of the witnesses at the committee hearings lied about him; he promised he would never keep information from Congress for political reasons; he admitted the AEC had made some mistakes while he was a member of it but he denied creating any myths about himself.

One of his Democratic foes—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington—said:

Magnuson Doubtful
"Strauss creates controversy wherever he goes, and with half of the Senate feeling uneasy about him, I don't see how he could do a competent job as secretary of commerce."

Republicans have cried politics about the Democrats' savage attacks on him. Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania Republican, accused the Democrats of a "nit-picking expedition — travels through the territory of trivia."

Strauss had the backing not only of Eisenhower but of former President Herbert Hoover. Some scientists with whom he had dealings in his AEC days were for him, some against him.

Strauss has been serving temporarily as secretary of commerce since last October. But if he is to remain in the office, the Senate must approve his nomination.

Threatens Filibuster
The first step was for the Commerce Committee to hold hearings on his qualifications. This normally is routine.

Not this time. The committee delayed hearings and didn't start till March 17. It didn't finish up till May 19 when Strauss got approval by the skin-tight margin of 9-8.

The Senate still must act. That is where his foes say they will make their big fight. Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) even threatens a filibuster to block approval.

Two Escape Injury As Trucks Collide

Two trucks were damaged but the drivers escaped injury Tuesday afternoon, when the vehicles were involved in a collision on East Chester Street near Meade Street, according to City police.

Patrolmen Meyer Levy and Ernest Bartoff identified the operators of the trucks as John H. Buckman, 43, of 376 East Chester Street and Mrs. Marian Gasparro, 38, of 145 Hasbrouck Avenue.

Police said Buckman was driving north on East Chester Street and attempting a right turn into a driveway when his truck was hit in the rear by the 1953 truck driven by Mrs. Gasparro.

Lodge Addresses Point Graduates

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge told the graduating class of the U. S. Military Academy today that it has what the world most admire in Americans—a code.

"Take it from a man who has spent much of his life in foreign relations," Lodge said, "that what the world admires about America is not the angle player or the corner cutter or the smart aleck, but the man with a code—generous and high-principled — a code by which he lives."

Lodge, ambassador to the United Nations, told the 499 graduating cadets in a prepared address that military careers are "richer in the true sense of the word than any purely money-making occupation could possibly be."

He reminded the cadets that if war should come, the United States would look to them for leadership and victory. "To take command and save our nation."

Woman Recovers From Rare Open Heart Operation

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — A 51-year-old Herkimer housewife is recovering from a rare "deep-freeze" open heart operation in which St. Joseph's Hospital doctors repaired two rheumatic bottlenecks in her heart.

By the operation, the first of its kind successfully performed in this area, the hospital's cardiac surgical team simultaneously corrected a narrowed aortic valve under direct vision (open heart technique) and a narrowed mitral valve. Before surgery her condition had threatened to end her life within a year.

The patient is Mrs. Mary Weber of Herkimer, whose husband Jacob is a theater manager there. Her health had deteriorated so that she suffered great difficulty in breathing and had been unable to walk a block without suffering fatigue.

The surgical procedure lasted six hours but after doctors opened her aorta, it took them only two minutes and 15 seconds to split the tightened leaflets of the aortic valve. They then cut through the right side of the heart to reach the mitral valve and enlarge its opening.

A week or so ago the new Temple Emanuel held "open house." All who helped build this beautiful modern temple were truly gratified by the widespread interest displayed by thousands who came to see this new building.

For the new Temple Emanuel means more than a traditional house of worship. It stands as a symbol of culture—a confirmation of Kingston's awareness of religion's role coupled with a love of architectural beauty. Regardless of religious significance, this imposing modern building enhances the whole city—it bespeaks an appreciation of the finer interests in all of us.

We of the Colonial Tire Company Family are proud to share in this and to have helped build this modern addition to Kingston's Houses of Worship and spiritual inspiration.

BEYOND HER MEANS

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please help me out on the following matter: A member of my husband's family has a clothing store for children in our city. He has very lovely things but I feel they are beyond our means and for this reason buy there only occasionally. I have heard through others that he is hurt when I buy our children's clothing elsewhere. Am I obliged to trade there? How far does my obligation go in this matter?

Answer: Tell him quite frankly that his lovely things are, except for an occasional Sunday best, beyond your budget, and that you regretfully have to buy most of your children's clothing in less luxurious stores.

Avoiding Identical Names

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's first wife passed away a few years ago and during that relationship they had a son who was named for my husband. Now I am expecting a child and would like to know if it would be improper to name our child after my husband if it is a boy. My husband supports his other child but other than that he never sees him as he is being raised by his grandparents in another part of the country. If it is proper to name our son after my husband, would he be 3rd or Jr.?

Answer: It would not be proper to give the identical name to your son that his elder half brother already has. If you did so, he would be 3rd and not Jr. It would be better to give him his father's first and last names and your own parents' last name as a middle name.

Distant Shower

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper to invite relatives of the bride-to-be who live in a distant city to a shower for her? I say "no" as it places them in the position of having to send a present. My friend disagrees and says that they will feel slighted if not sent an invitation. What is your opinion?

Answer: I agree with you. It does not seem very fair to ask them to send presents to a party they can not possibly come to.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her booklet No. 502, entitled, "Etiquette of Letter Writing," send 25 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Johansson Scheduled To Testify at Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — Swedish heavyweight challenger Ingemar Johansson and Edwin Ahlquist, a promoter-manager in Sweden, were scheduled to testify today whether there ever was a fighter-manager relationship between the two.

Johansson and Ahlquist were to make their federal court appearance in answer to a charge by California heavyweight Eddie Machen that Johansson ran out of a return bout with him after the Swede had scored a first round knockout over Machen last Sept. 14.

Machen is seeking an injunction to prevent Johansson from meeting Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title at Yankee Stadium, June 25. He contends Ahlquist, acting as Johansson's manager, signed for a return bout on Sept. 15, 1958.

Kingston Star Had 500 Mark In Circuit Play

John Parete, who played football in the shadow of the brilliant Hobie Armstrong for the past few seasons, stepped into the spotlight during the baseball season as a good catcher and a powerful hitter for the Kingston High School diamond team. As a reward, the DUSO Sportswriters voted him the league's "Player of the Year" at their meeting yesterday at the Eureka Steak House, Goshen.

The steady backstop was a unanimous choice for a spot on the all-DUSO team and he beat Vinnie DeCervo of Newburgh Free Academy for the Player of the Year award. Parete earned his selection on the basis of a .500 average in eight league games, an outstanding defensive record and some all around hustle.

Poughkeepsie and Newburgh dominated the dream squad. The Pioneers, who were runners-up to the Goldbacks after winning three straight titles, placed six players on the team. They are pitcher Fred Lasher, catcher Herb Boschen, second baseman Allison Butts, third baseman Dick Sewell and outfielders Carl Carniglia and Larry Levine.

Representing NEA are their two southpaw pitching stars, Bob Smith and Paul Schnitt, first baseman Jack Coonan and shortstop DeCervo.

Others selected were Frank Bell, Port Jervis catcher, and Tony Bellotto, Middletown outfielder. Three catchers were selected because Boschen and Bell both received the same number of votes for the second spot behind Parete.

The pitching staff is an excellent one and the three selected were unanimous choices. Lasher developed late in the season for Coach Sam J. Kallach at Poughkeepsie High and he had a 5-1 league record. The righty throws a lot of curve balls and has a small fast ball.

Schnitt and Smith were just about unbeatable. They hurled all of Newburgh's league games and were the primary reasons why the Goldbacks had the pennant practically clinched before the season was a little better than half over. Schnitt is a senior but Smith will be back again next season to torment the league.

Parete sported the second best average in the league. He had 14 hits in 28 times up, including two doubles, a triple and a home run. Boschen batted only .273 for the Pioneers, but he handled the pitching staff like a veteran though he is a converted first baseman. Bell was a good clutch hitter for the last place Porters and a good defensive catcher.

Coonan, an All-DUSO basketball selection, had no peer at first and was a unanimous choice. He hit with power and drove in many runs. Butts batted .333 for the PHS nine and in the finale against Port, he drove in seven runs with a pair of homers.

DeCervo was the best fielding shortstop in the league. He batted second in the NEA lineup and was adept at hitting behind the runner. Sewell developed into a fine fielding third baseman for Poughkeepsie and he hit with power.

The outfield features a fast picket man in Bellotto and two excellent hitters in Levine and Carniglia. Bellotto was a good hitter for Middletown and he controlled center field like Mickey Mantle. Levine batted .413 for Poughkeepsie, was a fine defensive player and a good baserunner. Carniglia led the circuit in hitting with a robust .512 average on 22 hits in 43 trips to the dish. He hits with awesome power and was the most feared batter in the circuit.

The Sportswriters Association accepted the resignation of Wesley "Bo" Gill, Newburgh News sports editor.

The fall meeting is scheduled to be held in Kingston. Present at yesterday's meeting were Charles J. Tiano, president, and Ed Cardinale of the Kingston Daily Freeman; Sam Angelo, one of the Middletown Daily Record; Glen Doty and Timothy Colt of the Middletown Times Herald; George Palmatore of the Poughkeepsie New Yorker and Mike Kowal of the Port Jervis Union Gazette.

Yesterday's Stars
Pitching — Don Mossi, Tigers, put away the first shutout of the season by Detroit's staff, giving up just four hits, striking out five and walking none for 2-0 victory over the Yankees.

Hitting—Ron Samford, Senators, his 10th-inning home run spilled the Indians 3-2.

NFA Head

Balcanoff Selected As 'Coach of Year'

George Balcanoff, who has coached Newburgh Free Academy baseball teams to six pennants in ten seasons, was selected yesterday by the DUSO Sportswriters Association as the "Coach of the Year." He will receive an engraved plaque from the association.

The popular NFA diamond head was a unanimous choice of the writers Newburgh won the crown this season with a 7-1 record in the league and a 13-1 mark for the entire schedule.

Balcanoff stresses fundamentals and is a devoted student of the game. He has made Newburgh a baseball power since he started coaching at the Hill City school ten seasons ago.

Last year's winner was Sam J. Kallach of Poughkeepsie High School.

Saratoga Raceway Is Ready For 18th Opening Tomorrow

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Saratoga Raceway hummed with activity today as preparations continued for the trotting track's 18th summer meeting, starting Thursday night. The meeting will be a 69-night affair and will feature a "new look" at the Raceway both in the racing program and in its spectator facilities.

In addition to the normal morning jogging and training and the multifarious last-minute details that seem to be part and parcel of getting ready for opening night, today also found workmen installing new stadium-type seats in the grandstand. And, track conditions permitting, seven qualifying races, involving 54 horses, were scheduled to be conducted starting at 1 p. m. The qualifying races were postponed from yesterday due to a wet track.

The installation of 1,065 new stadium-type seats in the grandstand got under way only yesterday as the seats arrived late. Track officials hope to have as many as possible installed for the opening.

Meantime, other innovations planned for the patrons will be in readiness for the inaugural. The enlarged front row boxes in the grandstand will have these new features—foam rubber cushions and colorful covers for the chairs, higher back partitioning and canvas dividers between boxes for more privacy, call bells for waiter service from the clubhouse and a special sandwich and beverage menu.

All new provincial fruitwood chairs have been placed in the clubhouse dining section. Reproductions of the Saratoga Raceway painting "In the Clubhouse Turn" by the noted artist, Sherman H. Ravesson, will appear on new covers for the racing program and the menus of the caterer.

New Look Program
On the Raceway half-mile track, one noted for its speed, will unfold a new look program of early-closing features planned by Racing Secretary Hap Haswell.

Having dropped in conjunction with Vernon Downs the Empire State Trotting and Pacing Classics which the two tracks co-sponsored last year, the Raceway this year will feature weekly $5,000 events for both faster class trotters and faster class pacers. Raised from their former value of $2,000 each, these events have attracted a fine array of talent.

The nominees for the faster paces include such names as Corsican, Newport Duke, Thunder Hanover, Victory Lind, Knight Pilot, Philbert Hanover, Morton W. His Man, Even's Jet and Mighty Hal.

Among the candidates for the faster trots are Count Hoot, Lanza Hanover, Farster, Karl Spring ood, Countess Rodney, Some Date and Handsome Boy.

Forty-eight other class events also have been given purse boosts for the meet carrying through Aug. 22. Twenty-four of these have been upped from $1,800 to $3,000 and the other 24 have been hiked from $1,600 to $2,000.

The meet also will be highlighted by the $10,000 Runnymede Three-Year-Old Trot and the $10,000 Bostwick Two-Year-Old Trot, traditional mid-July Grand Circuit events.

New Drivers
Though many familiar faces will be on hand, the ranks of drivers also will include a sizeable number of new names. Among those slated to do their first Spa driving are Tony Abbiatiello of Freehold, N. J.; Dick Richardson of Painesville, O.; Ray Ellerman of Bridgeville, Del.; Jack Boring of Harrington, Del.; Gene Daisey of Frankford, Del.; Bob Ryan of Lakeville, Mass.; and Herman Stepro of Corydon, Ind.

Raceway barns and those in nearby private barns will be thronged by close to 700 horses by the time the first race goes off at 8:15 tomorrow night.

Kingston Braves Add Bob Maines to Staff

Strikeout Sensation Of 1958 Back in Fold

One of the top pitchers in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League in 1958 will be pitching for the Kingston Braves this season.

Fred Davi, operator of the Kingston franchise which yesterday announced a working agreement with the Milwaukee Braves, has signed southpaw Bob Maines.

Maines returned to Kingston a few weeks ago after a brief fling at minor league ball in the Chicago Cubs farm system.

The big southpaw struck out 96 batters in 58 1/3 innings in the 1958 season and compiled a 2.31 earned run average. His 2-3 record was hardly a criterion of his true ability. He pitched superbly in exhibition games, fanning 21 Indianapolis Clowns batters.

Had Several Offers
Sought by several NY-NJ clubs, Maines decided to accept the Kingston offer and said he was happy to join Davi's brand new team. Two of the Braves' pitchers are former Trinity College varsity flingers—Fred Vogel, a left hander, and Joe Perrotta.

Davi said his field manager, Norm Fahey of Connecticut, had not selected a starting pitcher for the 1959 season against the Jersey City Cardinals Saturday night at Roosevelt Stadium.

The local operator said he hoped to have Maines on the firing line when the Braves meet the Stewart Air Force Base Jets in the Dietz Stadium opener on Saturday, June 13.

Robinson Retains Title in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission today left Sugar Ray Robinson in possession of his world middleweight boxing title, so far as this state is concerned.

In concluding a hearing about possible action depriving him of the crown, the commission decided it would be unfair to take it away on a technicality. The commission then urged the parties involved—Robinson and Carmen Basilio—to take immediate steps to complete arrangements for a title fight.

Robinson has signed a contract with Philadelphia promoter Sam Rose for a title bout with Basilio Sept. 21. The purpose of the hearing, held last week, was to determine the validity of this contract. The National Boxing Assn. already has vacated its recognition of Robinson as the middleweight champion. However, NBA President Ward Wylie recently said if contracts are signed for the Philadelphia title fight he would pull the NBA executive committee about restoring the title to Robinson.

Robinson has not defended the title since taking it from Basilio March 25, 1958.

Wilhelm Wins Eighth Game Haddix Hurls 8 Hit Shutout

Beats Cards, 3-0,
As Pittsburgh
Stays Near Braves

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
What's better than pitching 12 perfect innings? That's easy: Pitching an eight-hit shutout.

Only Harvey Haddix can make that statement, however. Pittsburgh's slim southpaw a week ago Tuesday night pitched a historic 12 perfect innings, then lost in the 13th. Tuesday night, giving up eight hits and tiring in the late innings, he came home a winner, beating the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0.

"Winning is better than losing, anytime," said Haddix when he compared the shutout with that numbing, 1-0 defeat at Milwaukee in which he permitted just one hit.

With Haddix's first shutout of the season, the third place Pirates stayed within 4½ games of the National League lead after the Cardinals had wrapped up a 3-1 decision in the completion of a suspended May 3 game.

Giants Beaten
First-place Milwaukee regained a 2½-game lead over San Francisco as Bob Rush's five-hitter beat the Giants 3-0. Fourth-place Los Angeles fell 5½ games behind with a 5-4 defeat at Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs were rained out at Philadelphia.

Lindy McDaniel's three-innings of one-hit shutout relief saved Cardinal rookie Gary Blaylock's third victory in the mound up of the suspended game at Pittsburgh. In the regularly scheduled game, the Bucs scored in the third against loser Larry Jackson (3-6) on Bill Virdon's double and Dick Groat's single, then added two in the fourth, capped by Haddix's RBI single.

Haddix (4-3) now has given up just one run — that chiller at Milwaukee — in his last 26 innings.

Only Singles

Rush, a 35-year-old right-hander, gave up nothing but singles for a 4-0 record, a 1-6 earned run average and his first complete game in three starts this season. Stu Miller (3-1) lost it, giving up Ed Mathews' 17th home run in the first inning. The Braves scored their other two in the fifth on Frank Torre's single and an error after a single by Casey Wise and a double by Hank Aaron — who was 3-for-3, padding his average to .424.

Hoyt Gets Knocked Out By a Swarm of Gnats

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm finally has been chased from the mound—but it took a swarm of gnats to do it.

It happened in the first inning at Comiskey Park Tuesday night. After the bug battle on the mound delayed the game 16 minutes, Wilhelm returned to pitch Baltimore to a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox and into second place.

The seven-hitter marked the eighth triumph without defeat for Wilhelm, 35, who had a 3-10 record last year and was picked up from Cleveland for the waiver price.

Wilhelm never will forget that first inning.

"It's the strangest thing that ever happened to me in a game," he said. "There was a cloud of gnats over the mound so thick that they were flying in my mouth. I never should have pitched a ball until they cleared away. But I went ahead and walked (Nellie) Fox. After I threw two balls to (Earl) Torgeson I had to quit—I was chased by the bugs."

What followed sent the 17,654 fans into hysterics.

Oriole Coach Al Vincent charged to the mound with a towel and tried to bash the insects away.

Sox bat boy Johnny Rosich rushed out with two bug bombs. He and Umpire Hank Soar began spraying the air.

Baltimore Trainer Eddie Weidner joined the battle, rubbing insecticide ointment over Wilhelm's face and arms while Soar sprayed his uniform with the bug bomb. But the gnats kept dive bombing.

The ground crew lit papers and went after the swarm of bugs like the charge of the Light Brigade. It didn't work.

Finally, Sox President Bill Veech had a fireworks bomb placed on the mound. The explosion was deafening, the white smoke suffocating.

The gnats gave up. Wilhelm continued. Apparently shaken by the bug battle, he walked Torgeson and hit Sherm Lollar with a pitch. With the bases filled, Larry Doby forced Lollar at second, Fox scoring on the play. It was the first run off Wilhelm in 22 1-3 innings.

Mossi, Sturdivant
Keep AL Pennant
Race Topsy-Turvy

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer
Hoyt Wilhelm and Don Mossi, a couple of relievers gone square, and Tom Sturdivant, an expendable world champion, are pitching the American League topsy-turvy. Wilhelm, the unbeaten right-hander who was waived out of the National League, was upset by a swarm of gnats but won his eighth in a row Tuesday night, hoisting Baltimore into second place with a 3-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

That left the stumbling White Sox in third and the Birds just a half-game shy of first place. Cleveland, beaten 3-2 by Washington in 10 innings.

Mossi, the lefty who was washed up when Cleveland peddled him to Detroit last winter, beat New York for the third time this season, ending the Yankees' winning streak at four with a four-hit, 2-0 decision although the Tigers had only one hit for eight innings against three pitchers. It was the first shutout by Detroit's staff, and the seventh suffered by the Yankees.

Good Relief Job

Sturdivant, the big right-hander the Yankees traded to Kansas City last week, gained his first victory with 7 1-3 innings of four-hit shutout relief that beat Boston 5-3. That pushed the fourth-place A's within 2½ games of the lead and also kept the Yankees, who slidded to seventh, from replacing Boston in the cellar.

Wilhelm, 35, who has a nine-game streak in a carry-over from last season, found himself in the middle of the gnats in the first inning at Chicago after giving up a one-out walk. When all else — burning paper, towels and bug spray — failed, the gnats finally were chased by a firecracker bomb ordered exploded by White Sox president Bill Veech.

The Bugs did upset Wilhelm enough to end his shutout string at 22 1-3 innings—the White Sox scored on their only other walk, a hit batter and an infield out after the 16-minute delay—but he came off a winner again with a seven-hitter.

The Orioles came from behind against loser Bob Shaw (4-2) on Billy Klaus' tying, two-run homer in the sixth, then won it in the ninth on consecutive singles by Willie Tasby, Gene Woodling and Gus Triandos.

Rom Samford's homer off loser reliever Bud Podbielan won for Washington. The Nats had taken a 2-1 lead in the sixth on rookie Bob Allison's solo 10th homer off Mudcat Grant. Cleveland tied it again in the eighth on a walk, Woody Held's double and a sacrifice fly by Vic Power, who had homered for the first time since Pete Ramos (6-5) went all the way for the Nats.

Fifth Straight

Mossi (4-2) won his fifth in a row over the Yankees as the Tigers, who finished with three hits, beat Duke Maas (3-3) with single runs in the second and third. Their only hit in the first eight frames came in the second, when Mossi's sacrifice fly made it 1-0 after a walk and Frank Bolling's single. The third-inning run scored on an error, walk and two long flies.

Sturdivant (1-2), who needed Rip Coleman's help when he tired in the ninth, relieved starter Ray Herbert after the Red Sox scored three in the first. The A's took the lead against loser Frank Sullivan (2-4) in a three-run third capped by Hal Smith's two-run double.

Ted Williams had only one hit, a double in the big Boston first, but it was his 2,500th in the majors.

Associated Press Sports Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—"Fighting is my business," says lightweight champion Joe Brown. To prove his point, the 33-year-old ruler risks his crown for the seventh time when he takes on dangerous Paolo Rosi at Uline Arena tonight. The 15-rounder will be telecast nationally starting at 9 p.m. EST. Commissions don't have to worry about making Old Bones from Houston live up to the six months defense rule. The aging but still slick champ is 'way ahead of schedule.

This could be the toughest of all his defenses of the crown he won from Wallace (Bud) Smith nearly three years ago. Rosi, a bony, wide-shouldered boxer-puncher, probably is the hardest hitter among the contenders.

The 31-year-old Italian-born New Yorker has run up an unbeaten streak of nine in the last two years. Although he is the No. 3 contender, he still is a hungry fighter. Paolo hasn't had too many big paydays since he started fighting for cash eight years ago in Italy.

The odds-makers figure Rosi will be the one to hit the deck. They have made the champion a 3-1 favorite.

Rosi's record is 31-1-1 including 13 knockouts, most of them scored with a slashing left hook.

Soft tissue over his jutting brows make Rosi vulnerable to cuts. You can be sure Brown will be stabbing away at the target.

Brown, a potent left-hooker himself, outpointed Johnny Bussio in his last outing, a 15-round title defense at Houston, Feb. 11. He has 32 knockouts to his credit in his 72-16-9 record.

WINS AND LOSSES—Sugar Ray Robinson a winner by decision when the New York State Athletic Commission ruled that he could keep his middleweight title, lost a round to police while the hearing was on in New York. The boxer points to the parking ticket he found on his car charging him with parking in a restricted area near the commission's downtown offices. (AP Wirephoto)

Two All-Star Games Slated For This Year

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
The major league club owners have approved the players' request for a second All-Star game this season.

The game, which must receive the blessing of Commissioner Ford Frick to become official, will be played on Monday, August 3, at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

The players will receive 60 percent of the gate and radio-TV receipts, with the remainder going to the club owners, who would use the additional cash to aid youth baseball programs such as the Little League and Babe Ruth League.

The players may possibly use their share of the cash to set up a pension plan for umpires and help former players not currently benefited by the pension plan. The players share of the first game, to be played in Pittsburgh July 7, goes into their pension fund.

Frick is expected to announce his decision next week after conferring with Presidents Warren Giles of the National League and Joe Cronin of the American.

Cronin Makes Disclosure

Young Driver Hurt In Local Collision

Miss Marjorie Dwyer, 17, of 83 Highland Avenue, was injured Tuesday when the car she was driving was involved in a collision at O'Neil Street and Ten Broeck Avenue, according to police.

Patrolmen George Deyo and James Scott said Miss Dwyer was traveling north on Ten Broeck Avenue, when her car and that of a 1950 sedan operated by Irving Bell, 44, of 69 Hasbrouck Avenue, collided.

The force of the impact pushed the Dwyer car into a parked 1959 sedan owned by the Kingston Buick Company.

Police said Miss Dwyer was taken to Benedictine Hospital and treated for injuries of the ankle and knee.

Texas Towns Hit Hard by Rains

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—High wind and heavy rains poured out of a thunderstorm line over West Texas early today, forcing families from their homes in Snyder and flooding stores in Lubbock.

An unidentified man was reported injured in Snyder when high winds blew a trailer over on him.

Fire Chief B. A. Porter said Snyder fire and police units and Civil Defense workers were evacuating families from low-lying areas in the West Texas oil city.

In Lubbock, at least a dozen downtown stores reportedly suffered damage from water that poured in after an estimated two inches of rain fell.

U.S. Highway 84, connecting Lubbock and Clovis, N.M., was reported closed by high water about 20 miles northwest of Lubbock.

Several houses were reported unroofed by high wind at Slaton, southeast of Lubbock. There were no reports of injuries there.

The Lubbock Weather Bureau measured an official 1.44 inch of rain, but unofficial measurements downtown were generally higher.

Action Deferred

timement in the city opposing transfer of park property. Among these, as indicated in his letter, is the mayor.

Questions Fairness

Mayor Radel's letter hits at what he feels is hasty action by the education board considering its uncertain status after the May 5 bond issue vote.

It questions the fairness of the city providing Dietz Memorial Stadium or park property for consolidation purposes when funds for such lands came from city taxpayers alone.

Another burden to the city could come through the need to expand sewer facilities, he noted, and said it seemed "unfortunate" that the superintendent of education and the board "have taken the position that any junior high school must be at this extremely dangerous place, and have refused to try to locate at another site." Unfortunately that has been the pattern of the Board of Education. Of course I do not refer to the new members, for they do not take office until July 1.

The education board's letter, signed by Robert H. Herzog, president, and Earl F. Soper, school superintendent, and addressed to Council President Harold L. Kay, asked the aldermen to "proceed forthwith" in reaffirming a 1956 agreement to convey the Dietz Stadium property.

Past Agreements Cited

Each alderman, said the letter, on last Feb. 5 received a copy of a letter from the school superintendent noting various agreements between past education boards and other administrators.

Included, it said, were reports on minutes of a March 28, 1946 meeting, in the administration of William F. Edelmuth covering an agreement for use of Hasbrouck Park land. Another, in December, 1956, in the Frederick H. Stang administration cited details of the agreement for a Dietz Stadium site.

The letter noted a letter from James J. Abernethy, then corporation counsel, pertinent to the agreement, and a Common Council resolution of Dec. 5, 1956, signed by Mayor Stang.

The board's letter held that on May 5 "the people of the consolidated district voted favorably on a bond proposition of $5,980,000," which called for construction of new schools and additions to present schools in nine locations in the district.

Need Stressed

Data and the information campaign before the vote, it held "bore out the urgent need for junior high school accommodations."

On May 11, it noted, the board authorized Perkins and Will, architects, to proceed with plans on four rural area projects, and now the board "is particularly anxious" to proceed with the Dietz Stadium junior high school project, since "it is at the junior high school level that classroom space is so urgently needed."

"Since it is acknowledged by all parents and taxpayers interested in the cause of good education in the Kingston area," it said, "That time is of the essence in the matter of constructing adequate housing at the junior high school level for the ever increasing number of students, may we respectfully request that you take action on this matter at your next Common Council meeting, which, we believe, is scheduled for Tuesday, June 2."

Mayor Radel's letter said he would be "most reluctant to see any portion, no matter how small, of our limited park facilities disposed of by the Common Council. If anything, our city needs more, not less, such facilities."

Fears Legal Tangle

The mayor indicated he had been informed that "there may be a serious legal question as to whether a Common Council alone has the power to dispose of a city's park property. Even if it has that power, I would urge you not to exercise such power unless you are convinced either that our park facilities would not be hampered, or that other property equally as usable for recreational facilities was readily available without any undue financial burden to the city."

The mayor held that the school superintendent and education board kept telling the people, that in effect, the city had to convey part of Hasbrouck Park for school purposes. This came, he claimed, "despite the fact that the corporation counsel advises that the counsel for the Board of Education has stated the board has no peremptory claim upon such property."

If such lands are conveyed, the mayor felt, "perhaps some fair consideration should be paid to the city" since its taxpayers are directly concerned. If sewer facilities are required to be expanded, with costs beyond those estimated for the school, he noted, the burden there would be on city taxpayers.

Feels Responsibility

These items, he held, were "of deep concern" to him, and he said that "Unlike the Superintendent of Schools, who has stated that he is unanswerable to the mayor, the elected officials, or members of the Common Council, or even to the people of this city, I am directly responsible to every citizen of the City of Kingston. I am the chief executive officer, and I have no duties or responsibilities to run any control over those persons who reside outside this city, even though they may have children, who might attend a junior high school such as is proposed."

The parcel of land in question, said the mayor, "was purchased solely and entirely with funds derived from taxpayers of the City of Kingston alone." None outside the city gave a "single penny." Accordingly, he said, "it may possibly be that your honorable body may well feel that a transfer of property bought originally with money of Kingston taxpayers, for use by residents of Kingston, and also by those who do not reside in the city, and hence contributed nothing in taxes to its purchase, is not a fair thing."

Traffic conditions in the Dietz Stadium area, he held are now far from favorable, and he felt that with a school there, plus stadium activities, both traffic and parking problems would become more serious. Besides problems on North Front Street and Lucas Avenue, a large area supermarket resulted in pouring more traffic into narrow Joy's Lane.

"If the superintendent of schools," he said, "has any plans to help alleviate this serious problem, I am not aware of such proposals. It would seem to me that the Common Council, and especially the traffic control committee, which has been doing an excellent job to improve rather than jeopardize conditions of traffic, with their necessary overtones of general safety, ought to also be quite concerned with this aspect of the matter."

Asks Clear Details

Even if it is the decision of the council to convey the land, he said, "I feel strongly that the burden of surveying the site and laying out the proposed boundaries of the parcel should be borne by the Board of Education so that actual details are evident and clear to your council before you are required to vote."

Before the May 5 vote, the mayor noted, the public was informed that a favorable vote by 60 per cent of the voters was required. Then "Almost immediately before the vote some hints were dropped that maybe if only 50 per cent of the people voted for it, the bond issue might be passed. This was based upon some asserted new law which might authorize such approval, but dependent upon certain things as they might occur next August. Despite this, when the referendum was over, and when it was clear that it fell short of the 60 per cent approval, the people were led to believe it required, the Board of Education immediately proceeded to advertise the $5,980,000 bond sale. It wasn't going to wait until August to find out whether or not it could legally exceed its constitutional debt limit.

The mayor quoted this from the May 26 issue of The Freeman:

"The taxpayers vote on May 5 on the bond issue for $5,980,000 failed to obtain the required 60 per cent of the 5,864 votes cast. However, by virtue of a new education law signed by Gov. Rockefeller a few days prior to the school vote, only 50 per cent may be necessary. The solution to the bond problem depends on the amount of assessed valuation on the rural lots. This figure will not be known until Aug. 15."

"And yet," said the mayor, "the notice (a legal notice published by the Board of Education) in The Freeman of May 9, speaks of a bond issue, which had been legally approved by the voters. It is absolutely impossible for me to reconcile these statements, and the people are entitled to a clear-cut explanation of them. He said he was not trying to make decisions for the aldermen, but these were questions to be answered."

Alderman Hastings said "It might seem that we are constantly criticizing other departments over which we, as elected representatives, have no control, but we are also open to criticism in our own deliberations."

Then noting that he felt he would be criticized for having a part in turning over city recreation areas, he said he felt the parks should be further developed and not cut down.

Doesn't Care About Past

He felt "We should be making plans to include in our budget for next year, and the following years, a program for large filtered swimming pools in each of our major parks, but certainly we should not be deliberating on any idea of giving up any precious park space we now have. I don't care what past agreements have been made between the Board of Education and past members of the Common Council. The way I see it, the City of Kingston holds deeds to these areas, and they were never handed over to the Board of Education. At least they have never produced them."

He said he would not criticize without making a suggestion, and then proposed that the education board pay for the land it gets the city could recover its lost park space, Kingston Point, he proposed, could be a new park area.

Nothing Free, He Says

"Right now," he said, "the buildings in the city have to purchase water from the water department. Since when do the citizens get anything free. I say you cannot take away park space, and expect the people of the city to give up what they have paid for with taxes for a program which they did not vote for in majority."

The school-site proposal was left with the laws and rules committee and corporation counsel and the planning committee went to the finance committee.

Mayor Radel, in his letter on planning, said: "I believe that an affirmative stand on this program will have a far-reaching effect upon the future growth of our city, and will aid greatly in a long range program to recapture much of the potential assessed value that lies dormant and unproductive in certain areas of our city."

It would be a two-year program, he noted, and he urged the aldermen "to pass the appropriate legislation, and make the necessary money available" to permit the city to hire the firm to make a comprehensive city plan.
